BOLT FROM SKY KILLS TWO MEN

Ten Companions Shocked During a Terrific Thunderstorm.

TWO CRAZED BY HEAT

Child Dies as a Result of High Temperature and Humid Atmosphere.

THREE MEN ARE PROSTRATED

During a terrific storm which swept over Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon, two men were killed outright by the lightning and others were shocked in the Brushton district. The storm was not of long duration, but while it lasted detonations of thunder and terrifying flashes of lightning were probably the worst experienced in this vicinity so far this summer. Previous to the breaking of the storm the humidity got in its work and death and prostration from heat were reported.

Killed by Lightning.

JOSEPH GRECO, aged 42, married and living at No. 7239 Tioga street, Brushton.

SERAFINO BONOCCI, aged 22, single and living at No. 4 Mohler street.

Shocked by Lightning.

TEN WORKMEN, who had taken shelter in a cellar with Greco and Bonocci.

Killed by Heat.

LARIEN KEARNS, 14-months-old daughter of Frank Kearns, died at her home in Homestead park of heat exhaustion yesterday afternoon.

Crazed by Heat.

ALANA STEFANKA, aged 30, a boarding house keeper at No. 507 Third avenue, Homestead, became violently insane during the afternoon from heat and was placed in the Homestead lockup for safety.

WILLIAM MALONEY, aged 30, a laborer of No. 7 Petrol street, Allegheny, picked up on the Brighton road while delirious from heat.

Prostrated by Heat.

THOMAS FALLON, aged 35, a roller in the South Side mills of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, is in a serious condition at the South Side hospital from heat prostration. His home is at No. 2103 Sarah street.

UNKNOWN MAN, aged about 45, was overcome in South Seventh street yesterday morning and removed to the South Side hospital.

SAMUEL WATT, aged 19, of No. 501 Forbes street, overcome by heat at Carson and South Twelfth streets; taken to South Side hospital.

Took Two Out of Twelve.

The man-killing bolt which sent the two workmen to their sudden deaths singled them out from about a dozen others, all of whom were closely huddled together in a cellar under the home of Thomas Crawford, No. 7806 Kelly street, Brushton.

By those who witnessed the fatal flash and felt its stunning effect, it was stated that the men killed had been standing at least 30 feet apart when the bolt entered the cellar. Between the two men there was a section of gas pipe, and Greco was leaning with his hands against it. This pipe is thought to have acted as a conductor for the lightning. When the men were struck they were sent reeling across the cellar floor. Greco's head struck the stone foundation with terrific force and he received a big gash in the head. Neither of the men was marked by the lightning.

One Died Suddenly.

The death of Greco was instantaneous, but Bonocci lived until Dr. H. A. Barnhardt of No. 313 Brushton avenue, who had been summoned, reached his side. The other men in the cellar were badly

SCORE KILLED; FIFTY INJURED

Two Gunpowder Magazines Explode in Midst of Dwellings.

VICTIMS CREMATED

Fourteen Houses Are Blown to Pieces and Fire in Ruins Adds to Horror.

BURNS CAUSE ELEVEN DEATHS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Lowell, Mass., July 29.—Two small gunpowder magazines, situated in the very midst of the humble residences of 50 mill operatives, exploded today with a frightful concussion, and the resultant wave of death cut off the lives of more than a score of human beings and injured nearly 50 others.

Half a dozen men who were loading kegs of powder from one of the magazines were blown to pieces, four boys 200 yards away were killed by the force of the explosion, and 14 frame houses within a radius of 400 yards went down as if they had been built of cards. Seven of these house immediately caught fire, probably from the kitchen stoves and were completely consumed. At least three persons were caught in the ruins and burned to death, while seven or eight others, who were rescued, died subsequently of their injuries.

It is estimated that 70 separate pieces of property, including those already mentioned, were destroyed, while the force of the explosion wrecked windows for five or six miles around, and could be heard distinctly more than 50 miles.

The Missing.

John Riggs.	Mrs. Howard Burkett.
Patrick Spencer.	Miss McDermott.
Amadee Boulanger.	Eliza Galloway.
	Clara Superna.

The magazines were the property of the United States Cartridge Company, of this city, but fortunately were situated more than a mile away from the factory itself. They were built of brick about 10 feet high, with a rounded roof of corrugated iron. They were constructed 30 years ago, in what was then an open field on the banks of the Concord river. During the last decade small wooden dwellings have gradually sprung up in the vicinity, crowding closer and nearer with fancied security to the two innocent looking buildings until they almost completely surrounded them, except on the river side, the nearest house being scarcely 50 feet away.

Cause of the Explosion.

One of the magazines was just within the roadside fence, while the other was about 100 feet behind it, near the bank of the river. Both magazines ordinarily contained two or three tons of gunpowder in tin kegs, each keg being about 18 inches high and a foot in diameter. The company has for some time been desirous of strengthening the floor of the magazine nearest the street, and this morning eight men, three of them employed for the company, three expressmen and two carpenters were sent there with three large ex-

ATTORNEY GENERAL KNOX BUYS A COUNTRY SEAT

Secures Historic Farm Near Valley Forge Which Is Valued at $175,000.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Attorney General P. C. Knox has purchased the farm of the late E. J. Mathews in Tredyffin township, Chester county, which, it is said, he intends to make his summer seat.

The farm, which is about a mile from Valley Forge, was formerly known as the Harvard farm, contains about 150 acres and is estimated to be worth between $150,000 and $175,000. In the days of the Revolution it was owned by a man named Brown, and during the historic encampment at Valley Forge by the Continental army, one of the buildings upon it was the headquarters of Gen. Henry Knox. During his stay there, Gen. Knox brought his young bride to keep him company during the long winter.

RELIGIOUS REFORMERS MASSACRED IN PERSIA

Men and Women Butchered and Bodies Dragged Through the Streets.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, July 30.—The Times this morning describes serious religious riot in the city and province of Yezd in Central Persia, which lasted more than a fortnight, and culminated at the end of June. The outbreak was directed against religious reformers called Babis. In the city for two days every Babis found was butchered by the rabble and the mutilated bodies were dragged through the streets, followed by exultant crowds. Houses were looted, women beaten and killed and finally the priestly leaders of the riot enjoined the populace to bring all the remaining Babis before them or the governor for judgment.

The governor refused at first to yield to the threats of the mob, but his palace was surrounded by menacing men and the following day he consented. One Babi taken before him was blown from the mouth of a cannon and another was killed and dragged through the town.

EXCURSION TRAIN LOAD IN A WRECK

TRIP WAS RESUMED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Butler, Pa., July 29.—An excursion train of nine coaches, loaded with 500 picnickers, bound from Butler to Oil City on the Protected Home Circle picnic, crashed into the rear of a northbound freight train at Carter station, five miles south of Grove City, on the Pittsburgh, Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad at 10 o'clock this morning. A score of passengers were injured, and only the slow rate of speed at the time prevented fatalities. The injured are:

MISS LEAH RODGERS, Butler; arm and head cut.

TRACY RENSHAW, Butler; cut on forehead.

JOHN SCHURING, Butler, cut and bruised slightly.

GEORGE CAMPBELL, Butler; forehead cut.

LILLIAN SARVER, Butler; head cut.

JANE LONG, Buttercup; nose broken.

W. L. BEATTY, Prospect; elbow cut and back bruised.

HOWARD GARDNER, Butler; cut on back of head.

ALONZO C. CONNERY, Butler; arteries cut on left wrist.

MRS. C. A. BITE, Butler; chin cut and face bruised.

MOSES BELL, engine driver; hands and face cut.

E. F. HENRY, fireman; back badly sprained.

The train was in charge of Conductor Charles Kamerer, who escaped injury. W. L. Beatty of Prospect got his injuries by being knocked out the rear door. Attorney Schuring of Butler was thrown violently down the aisle. A flagman had been sent back from the freight, 20 minutes before the accident occurred, to stop the excursion train. After the crash a panic ensued among the passengers.

After a delay of an hour and 30 minutes, the engine was raised upon the rails and the excursion continued to Oil City, where the injured had their wounds carefully dressed. The debris of the freight blocked two tracks for two hours.

FRIENDS HAVE NO HOPE THAT THE BOYS ARE ALIVE

Possible Chance That Joseph Hosack, Walter Mehard and Carl McCaughan Escaped.

Friends of George Z. Hosack of Carnegie have yet received no definite news that Mr. Hosack's son, Joseph, a Princeton student, and Walter Mehard, an adopted son of ex-Judge S. S. Mehard, had been drowned in Muskoko lake, Ont.

Telegrams to The Gazette from Beaumaris and Gravenhurst, on Muskoko lake, say on Sunday afternoon the two young men left Beaumaris for Gravenhurst to meet Carl McCaughan of Carnegie, a cousin of Hosack. He was expected to arrive at Gravenhurst from Carnegie. It is 15 miles from Beaumaris to Gravenhurst. On Monday morning the young men had not returned to Beaumaris and friends who went to Gravenhurst to inquire for them were told that Hosack and Mehard, with a companion, presumed to be McCaughan, had departed in the canoe for Beaumaris at 8 p. m. Sunday.

Searching parties were formed and the water and shores thoroughly searched, but not until yesterday morning was any trace found. First a paddle that belonged to Hosack's canoe was found half way between Beaumaris and Gravenhurst and later a coat that had washed ashore. Letters in the pockets showed that it belonged to Mehard. The last news from Beaumaris says it was suggested that the young men might have swum to an island in the lake, if their canoe capsized. The islands are now being searched, but the general opinion is that the three men were drowned. George B. Hosack left for Beaumaris on Tuesday night.

J. C. Bedell of Carnegie is a friend of the Hosack family. He is familiar with Muskoko lake.

"The absence of encouraging news leads me to fear the worst," said Mr. Bedell last night. "It is, however, barely possible that a search of the islands may find the young men alive. There are many islands in Muskoko lake, and the boys might have swum to one of them. Some of the islands are quite large, too, and it would be possible for a man to get lost on them for awhile at least."

The canoe in which the boys left Beaumaris had been presented to Hosack's sister.

Shah of Persia Will Stop in Pittsburgh En Route to St. Louis Exposition.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Special.)—Moses May, president of the Broadway Trust of this city, in a letter to a friend received today says that at a dinner recently given by a prominent officer of the French government the heir apparent to the throne of Persia announced that he was coming to the United States next year to attend the St. Louis exposition and that he had every reason to believe his father, the shah, would attend also.

While here they will make an extended tour of the country, visiting, among other places, Pittsburgh. The shah has attended many international expositions and for an oriental potentate is a widely traveled man. He was a guest of England a little over a year ago and made a great impression by the magnificence of his entourage and his personal attributes.

DENVER, COL., July 29.—(Special.)—It was given out here tonight from one high in authority that F. J. Hearne of Pittsburgh will be chosen vice president and general manager of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at the coming meeting of the directors which is to be held in this city in August. He will make a general inspection of the holdings of the company and remain in the state until the forthcoming meeting of the directors.

DANGER OF WAR PASSING AWAY

Russia and Japan Have Amicably Settled the Manchurian Question.

TREATY ARRANGED

Russian War Minister's Trip Will Result in Withdrawal of Armed Force.

JAPAN MAKES CONCESSIONS

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

St. Petersburg, July 29.—The return of Gen. Kurapotkin from his tour of observation in the far eastern possessions of Russia and his visit to Japan is an event of some moment in the present tangled position of affairs in Manchuria. Just what the result of the war minister's trip will be cannot be known until he has made his official report to the czar, which it is said will be within a very few days.

It is currently reported that Gen. Kurapotkin brings with him a draft of a treaty with Japan which will do away with all friction between the empires of the czar and the mikado, and which will make the chances of a war between the two powers extremely remote.

BERLIN, July 29.—It looks more hopeful in the far east and though a war between Russia and Japan cannot be said to be an impossibility, it is very unlikely that it will take place for some time to come. The good effects of the trip of the Russian minister of war to Tokyo are now being felt and a treaty between the two countries has just been signed.

A letter received here gives the details of the treaty in full. The document starts with the declaration that both Russia and Japan sincerely wish to avoid a conflict and also wish to protect the rest of the nations in the far eastern territory. Russia promises to evacuate Manchuria as quickly as possible, but the czar reserves the right to maintain a strong military police permanently in the province to protect all Russian interests and patrol the territory of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Nothing shall be done by any Russian official or private subjects which might hurt Japan's commercial interests. Russia will allow the ports at Feng-Tien, Yen-Kon and Fatang-Kong to remain open to all foreign vessels and Japan is allowed to open consulates everywhere. Manchuria will continue to be governed as at present and Japanese engaged in business in the province will be protected in their interests by the Russian government.

The treaty shall be considered as only of temporary effect, pending the drafting of a permanent agreement or until it has been actually signed by the representatives of both powers, when it shall become permanent. As soon as this takes place Japan will again be allowed to import wheat from China.

FOUGHT POSSE IN DEEP GULCH

Escaped Folsom Convicts Evade Capture After a Hard Battle.

USE WEAPONS FREELY

Remarkable Dash Up Hillside by Desperate Men to Escape Trap.

MINERS ARE NOW ALARMED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

San Francisco, July 29.—The desperate convicts who made their escape on Monday from Folsom penitentiary have again succeeded in eluding their pursuers and are now concealed in the thick underbrush which covers the hills in the vicinity of Greenwood, Eldorado county. On Tuesday night it was thought that the sheriffs and their men had them cornered in Eldorado gulch and that they would certainly be captured or shot down this morning.

All night the man-hunters prepared for a fierce conflict as soon as the dawn should break. The lines around the place where the convicts were supposed to be lying concealed was drawn tighter during the darkness. In making their appearance the various posses exercised the greatest precautions, as it is known that the convicts are fully determined not to be taken alive. Exactly how many convicts were in the gulch was not known, but it is supposed that there were from eight to 11.

At daybreak they made a dash to get through the cordon of officers who surrounded them. As soon as they started to move they were met with a raking fire from the men under the command of Sheriff Bosquit, who during the night had stationed themselves in the brush overlooking one side of the gulch. The fugitives were taken completely by surprise, but being all cool-headed criminals, they soon recovered their composure and returned the fire. Then ensued a stubborn battle between the two forces. Because of the thickness of the underbrush neither side was able to do any effective shooting.

Both the officers and the convicts were completely concealed by the brush. The officers directed their fire by watching for the puffs of smoke which issued from the guns in the hands of the convicts. The conflict, in which more than 100 shots were exchanged in rapid succession, lasted many minutes.

Perceiving that if they remained in the gulch they would eventually be surrounded and picked off or starved out, the convicts finally decided to make another dash for the open. Ignoring the shots from the officers' guns, they made a dash up the slope of the ridge, which rose almost from the edge of the gulch. As they emerged from cover they were met by a fusillade of bullets from the posse under the command of Sheriff Kenna. As far as is known, none of the convicts was struck.

Word has just been received that the escaped convicts were in the vicinity of Blucher ranch, nine miles from Auburn. It is reported that the convicts took forcible possession of a Chinese store near the Mammouth Bar mine and helped themselves to a quantity of provisions. Miners along the river are gathering up their bags and cans of gold dust and are hurrying to Auburn. Sheriff Bosquit of Auburn has sent word that the militia are pursuing eight of the convicts near the Greenwood creek.

CHURCH CHOIRS AND QUARTETS ARE TO BE SUED

Public Sentiment Committee of Wilkinsburg Are After Those Who Toil on Sunday—Challenge to the Committee of Twelve.

As a challenge to the committee of twelve, which has been prosecuting the druggists of Wilkinsburg for Sunday selling, a "public sentiment" committee has invaded the church and workshop for examples of blue law violations. The paid singers of the First Presbyterian church of that borough are wanted by Justice Walker for doing worldly work on the Sabbath, and the magistrate's constable is on the lookout for the son of the minister of that church for laboring on the seventh day. Informations were yesterday sworn to by the public sentiment committee not only against these violators, but about twenty others, including all classes of citizens, nationalities and degrees of religious inclinations for failing to properly observe Sunday.

Members of the committee would not say last night whether they would assume the task of a general prosecution, but if this is not done the public sentiment committee will push their cases to conviction. Warrants are expected to be made out today, although they will not be served until the ultimatum of the committee of twelve is received.

The informations made yesterday before Justice Walker were sworn to by J. R. Weller. They are as follows:

Those Who Were Prosecuted.

Miss Caroline Schroth, E. M. Davis and F. J. Thomas, members of the First Presbyterian church choir; James Stoner and B. F. Walters, proprietors of the Wilkinsburg Cab Company, and Thomas Martin and Elmer Brice, drivers; Gustave Gedaskie, Charles Moore, Percy Redcross and Martin Simpson, shoe shiners; F. Bedall, a fruit dealer; J. F. Hoffman and C. W. Smith, directors of the Penn Ice Company, and Joseph Melaski, an ice puller, and John Marsh, an engineer of the company; J. O. Murdoch and Crawford Murdoch of the Consolidated Ice Cream Company; A. E. Wright, a confectioner; James and Samuel Francis of the Francis Brick Company, and John Riley, foreman; James M. Perry, a workman at the Duquesne furnaces of the United States Steel Corporation, and James Wood, a driver for the Excelsior Express Company. Other informations were made the day before against the Penn Ice Company. All violations are for Sunday last.

Attorney C. A. O'Brien, who is representing the amusement companies in the Kennywood park Sunday fight, will be engaged as counsel by the new committee. Members of this committee claim the

KING ALPHONSE CONTROLS VOTES IN THE CONCLAVE

Young Ruler Overcomes Carlist's Opposition and Delivers the Support of Spanish Cardinals to Rampolla.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 29.—The Spanish cardinals caucused today and decided to vote solidly for Rampolla. The meeting was held at the home of Cardinal Vives y Tuto, who presided. The session was stormy, because a couple of the cardinals of Carlist tendencies disliked pledging themselves to Rampolla, but King Alphonse's wish, conveyed through Vives y Tuto, brought them into line. This means eight solid votes for Rampolla. Herrero, archbishop of Valencia, will be unable to vote. He is ill and the prospect of his being able to attend the conclave is slight. Rampolla's friends are hopeful and jubilant over the solidification of the Spanish vote. King Alfonso is aiding Rampolla through gratitude, because Rampolla befriended his mother, Queen Christina, against the Carlists and others during the regency.

On the other hand, the quirinal is undermining its enemy, Rampolla, by manifesting unusual respect for the vatican and church. The theaters continue closed and public music is stopped as a tribute of respect and mourning. The church prefects in the town throughout Italy are giving the greatest liberty to ecclesiastical celebrations and when invited to mourning services are invariably in attendance. Italian troops about the vatican openly fraternize with the papal guards. For the first time the vatican choir was invited to attend Umberto's memorial service in the Royal chapel, at which the king and queen were present. Margarhetta, the queen mother, informed friends she would like to see the next pope driving on the Pincian hill, as in olden times.

Oreglia, who is a man of surprises, or Capecelatro, who is a patriot, will, if elected, cease to be a prisoner in the vatican. The Italian papers accuse Cardinal Gibbons of intriguing and leading the opposition against an Italian pope. The truth is, Cardinal Gibbons is remaining extremely quiet, merely keeping informed on the general situation. It is believed he will vote for Vannutelli. Certainly Cardinal Gibbons is the most conspicuous foreign cardinal in Rome. The papers are full of comments on him.

The cardinals' friends will assemble Friday at 4 o'clock to say goodby before they enter their conclave at 5. It is believed there will be three ballots. Wiseacres are declaring the election will result on the third ballot. Rome expects to know the name of Leo's successor on Saturday evening.

In Drawing for "Cells" to Occupy During Conclave He Secures Fifty-Eight.

SAID TO SIGNIFY "POPE"

Lower Classes of Rome Firmly Believe This Incident Insures the Election of the Cardinal—Gotti Not Prejudiced Against America.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

ROME, July 29.—Cardinal Oreglia today invited the cardinals to enter the conclave on Friday afternoon. The doors will not, however, be closed until Saturday morning and the conclave will not commence until then.

Lots were drawn today for the "cells" which the cardinals will occupy during the conclave. The "cell" bearing No. 58 fell to Cardinal Rampolla. According to the cabalistic code of the Roman populace, No. 58 signifies "Pope," and since the drawing of lots for the conclave "cells" not a single man or woman among the lower classes of the Roman population has the slightest doubt of Rampolla's election to the chair of St. Peter.

Cardinal Gibbons' cell number is 29, second floor of the court of St. Damascus, in the Vatican.

Cardinal Logue, archbishop of Armagh, had an interview today with Cardinal Gibbons. When asked what he thought of the objections frequently mentioned against Cardinal Gotti being elected pope on the ground that his being a member of a religious order would prevent him from dealing in a broad spirit with Catholic problems in America and Great Britain, Cardinal Logue said:

"It is absurd. Cardinal Gotti was formerly an internuncio and has mixed with the representatives of the various powers. He knows the prevailing conditions as well as anybody. Just because he is a Carmelite, it does not follow that he is narrow-minded. Moreover, it is unreasonable to attribute too much weight to the personality of the new pope. International matters and internal policy are now almost invariably settled by commissions of cardinals, who, under the late Pope Leo, have directed their departments just as much as the heads of departments of a civil government direct their departments.

"But, whenever may be possible it is not likely that he will attempt to make any changes in policy without being careful to take the advice of those commissions which have heretofore directed the policy of the vatican."

With the arrival here of Cardinal Prisco, archbishop of Naples, the number of cardinals who will participate in the conclave is complete and totals 62. Of the two remaining, Cardinal Celesia archbishop of Palermo, cannot leave Palermo because of his health and Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, N. S. W., although he has left Sydney, cannot, it is believed, arrive here before August 20, when, it is supposed, the conclave will be over.

Rome this morning was the scene of one of those dramatic contrasts which are now characteristic of the Eternal City. While at the vatican, in the sistine chapel, a solemn requiem mass was being intoned, with all the solemnity the Catholic church can impose, for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII., the spiritual monarch who claimed Rome as his capitol, another and no less solemn requiem mass was being celebrated in the magnificent pantheon for the repose of the soul of the late King Humbert, the temporal monarch, the capital of whose kingdom was Rome.

In the evening there was a public procession through the streets to the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emmanuel. It passed off quietly, though thousands of persons witnessed the demonstration and the procession itself was over a mile in length.

WAS A PITTSBURGHER.

Young Man Murdered Near West Chester, Pa., Identified as George Conrad Docart.

Mrs. Barbara Docart of No. 240 Second avenue has identified the young man who was murdered at Parkersburg, near West Chester, Pa., on the night of June 25, as her son, George Docart, aged 35 years, and a resident of this city. He left here about two months ago to regain his health and had not been heard from for several weeks up to the time of his death.

When she heard of the young man's death, the day after it occurred, Mrs. Docart wired for and secured a description of him. From the description sent she did not seem to be her son and she wired back to that effect. She was later prevailed upon to go to West Chester, which she did last Friday. The body was disinterred from Octorara cemetery and she made the identification. The body will be brought on here at once for burial.

Docart was wounded in the leg in the Spanish-American war and had not been entirely well since that time. He conducted a saloon here for a short time, but ill health compelled him to give it up. He went east to rest for a few weeks. It is believed he was murdered over a game of cards. His assailants have not yet been arrested. The young man was finely educated. His mother conducts a boarding house in Second avenue.

press teams to take out the powder and mend the floor. Two of the teams had been loaded and the other was almost full when the explosion occurred.

It was a long time before the actual cause of the explosion could be ascertained. It was thought at first that everyone within a radius of 50 feet of the magazines had been killed, but later it was found that Clarendon Goodwin, the foreman of the men who were loading the powder, had survived, together with one of his assistants, Adam Boulanger, and this afternoon the latter was seen in the hospital.

Force Like a Volcano.

He said that a can of nitro-glycerin which was stored in the magazine was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a jug of water and began pouring it on the nitro-glycerin with the idea of diluting and washing it up. As soon as the fluid from the jug struck the floor he found that it was nitric acid. The floor at once began to smoke, and when the men saw it they rushed from the building, but had not gone 10 feet when the explosion occurred.

This magazine was, therefore, the first to go up, followed immediately by the gunpowder on the three wagons and several seconds later by the second magazine.

The entire catastrophe occupied scarcely five seconds, but in that time the surrounding property was swept as if a small volcano had broken forth in its midst. Every house within 200 yards collapsed. Trees were blown down, the grass within a hundred yards was mowed as if by a lawn mower, while bricks from the two magazines were hurled far across the river.

Several Burned to Death.

The work of rescue at once began, but in many cases the flames had already gained full sway over the crumbled ruins, and several persons were burned to death before the debris which covered them could be removed.

Nearly 40 persons were taken to the two hospitals within half an hour, while many more had their wounds dressed and remained on the scene, where they assisted in caring for the less fortunate.

The explosion shook the city and within an hour there were at least 5,000 persons on the scene of the catastrophe. The crowd so badly hindered the work of caring for the wounded that the mayor sent out a militia call. Three companies responded and three hours later had thrown a cordon of men around the district and cleared the place of every one except those immediately engaged in quenching the flames and searching for victims.

Two hundred yards further down the river from the second magazine the firemen suddenly came across the bodies of four little boys who were about to have a swim. A fifth member of the party was in the river when the explosion occurred and escaped injury.

The force from the second magazine completely demolished the house of William Riggs, about 50 yards away, almost burying Mrs. Riggs, and badly injuring her little son. Mrs. Riggs died before taken to the hospital.

Most of the property destroyed consisted of small buildings constructed of wood, and at a comparatively small cost. The sum of $75,000 will cover the property loss.

CASE LACKED EQUITY.

Woman Wins a Suit In Which Bradford County Property Is Involved.

CHICAGO, July 29.—(Special.)—Mrs. Frances M. Shepard, wife of Judge H. W. Shepard, won a victory in Judge Tuley's court this morning, when a bill filed against her by her brother, Charles E. Stuart, in which he asked for the transfer of certain parts of the estate left by his mother, Mrs. Frances M. Stuart, was dismissed for want of equity.

The property involved originally belonged to the estate of Henry Welles, grandfather of Mrs. Shepard, who died in 1883, leaving a large estate. By the terms of the will property in Bradford county, Pennsylvania, was left to G. H. Welles as trustee for two daughters of the testator, Susan Perkins and Frances M. Welles. Mrs. Shepard is the daughter of Frances M. Welles, who acquired property by the terms of the will amounting at the time of her death to more than $100,000.

Sub-Committee Approves Three Ordinances and Rejects One.

The sub-committee on surveys of Allegheny councils met yesterday and wrangled considerably over a number of ordinances establishing grades on streets. The ordinance establishing the grade of Centre street caused a lot of discussion. The councils of the last administration passed an ordinance establishing the grade and providing for a stone retaining wall on the north side of the thoroughfare. This ordinance was considered by the present councils and was finally ordered printed by the surveys sub-committee.

Ordinances establishing the grades of Westminster and Home streets were recommended favorably, and the ordinance asking for the grading and paving of Observatory avenue was returned with a negative recommendation.

FLY NET FOR NOTHING.

Boy With Business Instincts Tried to Sell Stolen Horse and Buggy.

Robert Brown of No. 6600 Deary street, the boy who accompanied him, was allowed to go. George R. Bothwell of No. 1014 Franklin avenue, Allegheny, identified the horse and buggy.

Brown told a story of their adventures to the police. He says that they made two trips to Sandy Creek with the horse and buggy and that Sweeney made several attempts to sell them. He asked $300 for the horse, $100 for the buggy, $50 for the harness, $5 for the whip and offered to throw in the fly net.

WITNESSES FEARED DEATH IN KENTUCKY

Men Whose Testimony Is Wanted in Marcum Murder Trial Are Brought to Court from Hiding Places.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CYNTHIANA, KY., July 29.—When court for the second trial of Curtis Jett and Thomas White for the murder of James B. Marcum, at Jackson, Ky., opened today 51 witnesses for the commonwealth answered to their names. While the defense has subpoenaed over 100 witnesses to impeach those testifying for the commonwealth and prove an alibi for Jett and White, the prosecution is also securing many valuable witnesses that could not be secured during the first trial.

Officers arrived today from Breathitt county with Samuel Little, who is considered a stronger witness than either B. J. Ewen or John L. Patrick. It is stated that Samuel Little not only saw Jett just before Marcum fell and again after the shooting, but also that he witnessed the shooting in the court house. Little was arrested last night by the soldiers while in hiding and brought here today by a deputy. Little is related to Curtis Jett.

John Freeman, another important witness for the commonwealth, who is said to have fled to the mountains during the trial at Jackson, was also brought in by a deputy today.

Capt. Ewen, the principal witness for the prosecution, was the first witness called by the commonwealth. After his testimony Judge Osborne asked him if he desired guards to take him across the river to the camp. He said that he desired guards and he was temporarily placed in one of the jury rooms until the militia was called for, and they took him to Camp Licking.

On the witness stand it developed that he had made different statements to Judge Hargis and others immediately after the killing of Marcum in Breathitt county. He gave as his reasons that he was afraid to say otherwise, as he was afraid of Hargis and Callahan. He said that Hargis, Callahan and Combs had called him into consultation immediately after the killing and told him what to say and that he had agreed to do so, as he was afraid of being killed then and there.

This created some stir in the court room and immediately after he had left the stand some applause was started, which Judge Osborne promptly suppressed.

GRAVES TOO CROWDED.

Supt. G. W. Moore Will Investigate Conditon of St. Mary's Cemetery.

Superintendent G. W. Moore of the bureau of health will this morning investigate a report made to the bureau that the health of the community is being endangered by the burial of more than one body in graves at St. Mary's cemetery, Penn avenue and Forty-fifth street. It is alleged that the placing of several remains in one excavation leaves the top body within from 15 to 18 inches of the surface.

Charles E. Devlin, superintendent of St. Mary's cemetery, stated last night that it was true two bodies at present occupy one, but just for temporary purposes, and that it would be removed at once. He stated that his men were somewhat hurried by a number of bodies coming in while they were changing graves and in their hurry one body was placed in the same grave with another. This condition, he said, would be changed at once.

The church wanted to secure one of the structures for a parsonage and members of the Sunday school started a subscription to raise the necessary funds. Hearing of this, the company offered a house known as the W. D. Buss homestead. The only expense to be incurred by the church will be the moving of the building.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Pittsburgh manufactured electrical equipment is to be installed in one of the largest Chilian nitrate plants. J. K. Robinson of Iquique, Chili, who represents the interests of the Westinghouse and Standard Underground Cable companies on the west coast of America, and who is now in New York, has just placed the contract on behalf of the Africa Victoria, a British capitalized company, which concern is to construct a $500,000 plant in Junin, the principal Chilian port, for the export of nitrate.

The contract calls for Westinghouse generators and engines. Two Westinghouse electric locomotives have also been requisitioned for the purpose of hauling the nitrate from the plant to the shipside. They will be the first electric locomotives shipped to the west coast of South America. The contracts for the electrical equipments of two more plants in the same district will be placed within the next few days. The generators and engines will be of Westinghouse build.

LONDON, July 29.—The house of commons today passed the sugar convention bill to its second reading by a vote of 224 to 144. In the course of the debate upon the bill Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, in defending it, said:

"For 20 years we have tried to secure the voluntary abandonment of bounties. It was only when we changed our policy and suggested retaliation that we secured the object for which we had struggled so long."

Mr. Chamberlain said he believed the bill would not increase the price of sugar, but by giving greater stability and certainty to the trade would benefit the West Indies.

O'NEILL KNOCKED OUT.

Young Corbett Sent the Finisher in the Fifth Round.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 29.—Champion Young Corbett knocked out "Jack" O'Neill of this city in the fifth round tonight at the National Athletic club. The first three and a half rounds were tame, O'Neill avoiding the champion's rushes.

In the fourth round O'Neill hit Corbett three glancing blows on the jaw and was about to deliver a fourth one when Corbett dropped to his knees to avoid it. This gave the local man confidence in the fifth round, which proved fatal for him. He met Corbett's rushes and in an unguarded moment received a terrific right-hand punch which sent him to the floor and he was counted out.

BOLT FROM SKY KILLS TWO MEN

shocked and thrown violently to the cellar floor by the lightning, but none needed the attention of the physician, and after the storm had subsided all were able to go to their homes.

During the last week Contractor I. W. Shearer of Brushton avenue had about a dozen workmen employed moving the Crawford house from a lot fronting in Kelley street to the rear of the same property. The work had just about been completed, and workmen were there ready to connect up the gas and water pipes.

About 2:30 o'clock the storm came up, and the men who moved the house sought shelter in the cellar; while the other workmen went to the back porch. The cellar, which proved a death trap, is a large one, and besides having three open windows, also contained a door, which was left open by the men.

Fatal Lightning Rod.

It is also said that there was a loose lightning rod hanging down the side of the house as far as the cellar, and had not yet been grounded. The bolt is thought to have struck the rod, run down into the cellar and killed the men.

A peculiar feature noted during the storm was that the heavy thunder and lightning seemed to burst mostly over the section east of Oakland. In the downtown district there was a heavy downpour of rain, but little lightning was noticed. In Bellefield and Shadyside a number of places were struck, but no great damage was reported after the storm had passed. The rainfall, according to the report of the local weather office, measured .14 of an inch.

During the morning the heat was very oppressive, and the humidity was reported to be 68 per cent at 8 o'clock. By noon it had gone down farther, and there was very little air going. The maximum temperature for yesterday was 89 degrees, 5 above the normal for the day. Since January 1 the excess in temperature has reached 3.12 degrees and in precipitation 3.12 inches.

Maloney's Strange Hallucination.

Maloney was found by Officer James Mahoney sitting at the side of Brighton road. Maloney was defending himself in a murder case, believing that he was on trial for having killed a man. It is said that Maloney was sunstruck last summer and yesterday was again effected by the heat and had been acting queerly all day. He was sent to St. Francis hospital.

When Alana Stefanks was stricken by the heat at her home in Homestead, she became violently insane and drove the boarders from the house by throwing water on them. She then smashed the furniture, and was throwing it out of a second-story window when Officer William Mason arrived, and took her to the lockup for safe keeping.

George Verdo and Anthony Micholos, Slavs, had a narrow escape from drowning at their boarding house in Cherry alley, Braddock, yesterday afternoon during the storm. The men are employed at night at the Edgar Thomson steel works, and like many other workmen living in the foreign settlement who are employed at night, have been sleeping in the cellars of their boarding houses to escape the oppressive heat. While the men were asleep a flood of water poured into the cellar from the alley, and Verdo and Micholos were given a severe ducking and had considerable trouble in making their way outside.

The weather indications are for more rain today, and fair conditions tomorrow in Pittsburgh.

YALE MEN ROUTED.

Red Sweater Maddened Bull and He Demolished Their Tent on Neville Island.

Three young Yale students had their summer camp unceremoniously broken up yesterday afternoon by a maddened bull belonging to Charles W. Stillwell of Neville island. The students pitched their camp on a corner of Farmer Stillwell's land and prepared to spend the summer there. Yesterday one of the students washed a red sweater and hung it over the tent to dry.

The big bull confined in an enclosure nearby, sighted the sweater, and, bounding over the fence, rushed for the tent. George Applegarth, one of the campers, was swinging in a hammock outside the tent and discovered the bull coming toward the tent. He notified his companions, Everett Reblin of Montreal, Can., and Frederick Stafford of Hartford, Conn., of their danger, and the three men took to a tree. From this position of vantage they watched the bull demolish their summer home. Farmer Stillwell notified the students that he will pay for the damage done and invited them to remain all summer.

Applegarth is said to be a brother of Charles Applegarth, a well-known editorial writer connected with the staff of the San Francisco Examiner.

GAS MAIN EXPLODED.

Careless Workman Lit Match and Two Are Injured as Result.

A gang of workmen in a ditch at Liberty avenue and Fifty-first street had a narrow escape from death or serious injury yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a gas main.

Mike Grysmer of No. 209 St. Andrews street, and Dominic Tort of No. 6318 Everett street, were badly burned by the explosion. None of the other workmen were injured. It is thought that one of the Italians lit a match while working in the ditch and that the explosion followed. Both were removed to the West Penn hospital, where it was said last night that their burns were not fatal.

THE BASEBALL CONFERENCE.

Meeting Goes Over Owing to Johnson's Absence.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Special.)—Members of the baseball conference got together today, but after a session of an hour adjourned without taking any action as to a national agreement.

Harry Pulliam said this adjournment was taken owing to the absence of Ban Johnson, president of the American league. There was some talk of another meeting tomorrow for the election of officers, but Mr. Pulliam said they had decided to let that matter stand over, and that the adjournment was subject to a special call.

Westinghouse Machinists Strike.

About 300 men employed at the Westinghouse Machine Company, went on strike yesterday morning for an advance of 7½ per cent, the same as granted by the Manufacturers' association. The men say their idleness will cripple the work while the company officials declare they can get sufficient men to fill the strikers' places. The company will not treat with the association, but with the men individually. It is thought several of the strikers will return to work in a few days, by applying personally for the advance.

BROKE UP INITIATION.

Red Fire Looked Dangerous and Fireman Dashed Into Lodge Room With Extinguisher.

A fireman rushing into a lodge room, armed with a fire extinguisher, stopped for a time the initiation of new members last night. In a four-story brick structure, at South Fourteenth and Carsons streets, known as the Birmingham Fire Insurance building, a secret society was busy with its initiation. Part of this ceremony included the lighting of red fire and the shouting of the lodge men. From the streets below it looked as though the building was burning and a cry of fire was started.

In a few seconds both streets were blocked with people. Fireman Nicholas Abel of truck J rushed to the scene and forcing his way into the lodge room, saw that nothing serious was happening. He announced this to the crowd, but they refused to disperse.

Then another fireman, not heeding Abel's announcement, dashed up the stairs with a full-loaded extinguisher. He saw his mistake before he used the extinguisher. While the excitement was on the night patrolmen were just leaving police station No. 7, in South Thirteenth street, to go on duty, and Inspector P. F. Kelly brought the squad to the scene. The officers scattered the crowd and the initiation proceeded.

ACTRESS KILLS HERSELF.

Anna Poston Ends Her Life With a Revolver in a Chicago Hotel.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Miss Anna Poston, an actress, 24 years of age, shot and killed herself today in her room at the Inter Ocean hotel. Miss Sallie Price, her room mate, stated that Miss Poston had been grieving over something for two weeks and had made frequent references to suicide, asking what would become of her soul if she destroyed herself. Miss Price replied that such an act would result in eternal punishment. Miss Poston then asked: "What have I done that my soul shall be tormented on this earth and go condemned into the next?"

A muffled shot was heard in the hotel this afternoon and when the door to Miss Poston's room was broken in her body was lying across the bed, blood flowing from a bullet wound above the heart.

From letters in Miss Poston's possession the police learned that she had a sister, Mrs. Mattie Weinns, living in Binghamton, N. Y.

The students pitched their camp on a corner of Farmer Stillwell's land and prepared to spend the summer there. Yesterday one of the students washed a red sweater and hung it over the tent to dry.

The big bull confined in an enclosure nearby, sighted the sweater, and, bounding over the fence, rushed for the tent. George Applegarth, one of the campers, was swinging in a hammock outside the tent and discovered the bull coming toward the tent. He notified his companions, Everett Reblin of Montreal, Can., and Frederick Stafford of Hartford, Conn., of their danger, and the three men took to a tree. From this position of vantage they watched the bull demolish their summer home. Farmer Stillwell notified the students that he will pay for the damage done and invited them to remain all summer.

Applegarth is said to be a brother of Charles Applegarth, a well-known editorial writer connected with the staff of the San Francisco Examiner.

NOMINATED FOR JUDGE.

Philadelphia City Committee Names Candidate and Legality of Act Is Questioned.

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—(Special.)—The Republican city committee today nominated Robert von Moschzisker for judge of the court of common pleas No. 2.

The right of the committee to take the initiative in the nomination of candidates is questioned, and the matter may be taken to the Dauphin county courts for settlement. If an adverse decision shall be made prior to 42 days before election, there will be time to hold primaries and a convention to permit the voters to go through the form of ratifying Mr. von Moschzisker's selection by the leaders, if, after 42 days, the candidate's name will not appear on the ballot as a Republican.

But Mayor Weaver is said to have insisted that the rules gave the city committee the power to nominate candidates, and the leaders acquiesced in his opinion, which, to them, was tantamount to an order.

MILLVALE WOMAN IN JAIL.

Alleged That, Owing to a Similarity of Names, She Got Money Not Due Her.

Mrs. Thomas Dugan of No. 10 Troy street, Millvale, was sent to jail yesterday in default of $500 bail by Justice J. J. Walker of Wilkinsburg on a charge of false pretense. It is alleged Mrs. Dugan went to the office of T. B. Murphy of Pittsburgh and secured $16.10 to which she was not entitled.

It is said there is another man of the same name as her husband living in Millvale, and Mrs. Dugan got a letter which he should have got, with which she collected the money. Miss Elsa Murphy identified her as the woman who received the money. The information was made by T. B. Murphy.

committee of twelve should not confine itself to the druggists alone. Before making any arrests, the public sentiment committee will give the other committee a chance to "back up," and if this is not done a flurry in prosecutions may be looked for.

A prominent citizen said yesterday that if the prosecutions are not soon stopped in regard to soda water selling the local option privilege of the borough may seriously suffer.

Seven druggists, through their attorney, Harry McIntosh, appeared last night before Justice Walker and pleaded guilty to having violated the blue law Sunday last. They were fined and the fines remitted. These cases were inspired by the druggists.

Crusading in the Monongahela valley against alleged violators of the Sunday laws is at fever heat, and yesterday evening the druggists of Braddock were dragged into the controversy. A constable from the office of Alderman Charles H. Anderson of Pittsburgh served warrants on 13 druggists in Braddock. No bail was asked but the men sued were each notified to appear between 3 and 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the office of Alderman Anderson.

Informations are also reported to have been made against all the druggists of Homestead on a charge similar to that against the Braddock druggists. Those on whom warrants were served yesterday are: Joseph Hollander, Albert Maggini, Hearing and Farnsworth, J. B. Simons, Cyrus Edmundson, Frank Bros., W. A. Kulp, Kulp and Cassidy, John Wells, S. K. Stright, J. J. Walker, George Kupescher and George Krine.

The informations were sworn to by F. Jahn. He is not known in the boroughs.

The church committee yesterday afternoon selected a new justice of the peace before whom to make informations against the Kennywood park management and employes. Justice J. L. Campbell of North Braddock received a visit from the crusade committee, and the result was that 16 informations were made against Kennywood park operators. The warrants will be served today.

EBELT IS HEARTLESS.

Sister's Weeping Failed to Move the Mount Vernon Wife Murderer.

WHITE PLAINS, July 29.—(Special.)—Calmly smoking a cigarette, Martin Ebelt, the youthful slayer of his bride, was taken from police headquarters at Mount Vernon today and locked up in the West Chester county jail. Before he was taken to White Plains Ebelt was visited by his sister, Mrs. Nellie Mitchell, who wept almost continually while talking to him.

He rolled a cigarette, lit it and blew the smoke into small rings, and said: "Well, I think it is better that it is all over; she is better dead than alive."

AGREEMENT TO BE RENEWED.

Westmoreland to Get Congressman for Three Terms and Butler Two.

BUTLER, PA., July 29.—(Special.)—Joseph R. Showalter, William J. Marks and Levy M. Wise, congressional conferees appointed by County Chairman John M. Leightner, met in Greensburg in the morning to arrange, with a committee representing that county, the manner of nominating a congressman for the Butler-Westmoreland district. It is expected the agreement made last year, giving Westmoreland the first three terms and Butler the last two of the decade, will be continued.

CALL ISSUED FOR SELECT TO MEET

Upper Branch Holds Session Tomorrow to Pass Sand Filtration Resolution.

OTHER BUSINESS EXCLUDED

President Lambie Says Committee Cannot Consider Mechanical or Alum-Water Scheme—He Will Appoint Members Opposed to Chemicals.

Twenty-six new cases of typhoid fever were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

The chances of the city obtaining a pure water supply are steadily brightening, and the movement inaugurated by The Gazette is bearing rich fruit. President John S. Lambie yesterday called a special session of select council for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to take up the sand filtration resolution from common council, which he expects to be promptly adopted. President Lambie will at once appoint two sand filtration men to serve on the joint special committee which the resolution provides.

President Lambie agrees with The Gazette that under the Sterrett resolution, adopted by common council, no other method but sand filtration can be considered. He had the following to say on this point yesterday:

"I have read carefully the resolution adopted by common council, and I do not see how it can be construed as permitting opening up the discussion as to which method of filtration should be adopted. It very plainly instructs the director of the department of public works to prepare an estimate of the cost of the plant, according to the present plans, and the committee of councils is appointed to assist him in getting information on the subject. As I understand it, the committee cannot take up an investigation of mechanical filters, and the only thing to be done is to advance the plans for the building of the sand plant.

President Lambie said all the committee can do is to ascertain whether a sand filtration plant can be built with the money on hand. If it is not sufficient the next step will be to submit the question of an additional bond issue to the people.

President Lambie takes the position that filtration is sand filtration, and that it is the only natural mode of filtration. In his call he says it remains to be decided whether "the purification of water is to be accomplished by filtration or by other methods yet to be determined." It is Mr. Lambie's opinion that the mechanical or alum-water lobby will remain inactive until a proposition for an additional bond issue is submitted to the people, and that it will work to have a bond issue defeated in order to force councils to use the money now on hand to build an alum-water plant.

It remains to be seen whether this scheme will be attempted, but it is the opinion of persons in close touch with the public pulse that the people want nothing but sand filtration, and that they will not be hoodwinked into voting against another issue of bonds if one is necessary to give them a pure water supply, containing neither typhoid germs or injurious chemicals.

President Lambie's call states that filtration will be the sole business considered Friday. He said yesterday enough members had given their pledges to prevent the Duquesne way railroad ordinance or any other business being taken up.

COMMITTEE FILES REPORT.

Must Be Open Competition Among Architects for Soldiers' Memorial.

The executive committee of the Soldiers' Memorial hall yesterday filed a report with the county commissioners that puts the position of the veterans in a light that cannot be misunderstood. The committee consists of S. M. Duvall, H. S. Bengough, F. L. Blair, W. N. Camp and Charles P. McKenna.

The report practically says there must be open competition among architects in preparing plans before the embargo laid by common pleas court No. 1 will be lifted. The report was accepted by the board of commissioners of Allegheny county and will be considered when Commissioner James A. Clark returns to the city.

FOUR BODIES RECOVERED.

Victims of Herrs Island Drowning Accident Taken from River.

All the bodies of the victims of the drowning accident at the Herrs island dam on Tuesday night have been recovered. Government Diver Seth Henricks, under orders from Govt. Engineer Capt. Edward Hardin, worked for a short time below the dam yesterday afternoon and found the body of Henry Brown, aged 13 years, which was lodged tightly between two large stones.

The remains of Joseph Brown and Edna Shipley were recovered early yesterday morning by Firemen Weaver and Richardson of No. 8 engine company, and the body of Fred Bolige was found about an hour after the boy was drowned. On Friday morning both the Brown boys will be buried in Sharpsburg cemetery from St. Vincent's Roman Catholic church. The funerals of Fred Bolige and Edna Shipley will be held on the same day.

J. R. P. BROWN WORKS HARD.

No Certainty That Mystery of Late Recorder's Death Will Be Solved.

Sensational developments that will bring in the names in no favorable light of persons prominent in this city are promised before the close of the inquest into the death of the late Recorder J. O. Brown. The dead man's brother, James R. P. Brown, has been severely criticised for his activity in the case, but the threats he has received have only caused him to work the harder to solve the mystery of death. So serious have affairs become that a number of Pittsburgh lawyers are reported to have refused to be identified with the case.

Detectives who have watched the work of James R. P. Brown in getting testimony relating to his brother's death and the circumstances that preceded it say that Mr. Brown's powers in that direction are wonderful. Whether the inquest will be concluded finally tomorrow, the day set for resuming it, those who are interested in the investigation were unable to say.

GARBAGE COLLECTORS USE CARNEGIE CARS

Because of the filthy condition of a consignment of steel sent to Buffalo by the Carnegie Steel Company from Homestead, the consignee yesterday notified the Homestead officials that the shipment was refused. It is alleged that the garbage collectors of Homestead and Munhall have no place to dump the garbage collected during the day and under cover of darkness drop it anywhere when reasonably certain they will not be detected in the act. It is alleged that when the matter was investigated it was discovered that garbage had been dumped into the cars loaded with steel at the Munhall shipping yards.

Pitcairn Kicks on 10-cent Fare.

Residents of Pitcairn are aroused at the action of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in charging a 10-cent fare on the cars from Wilmerding to Trafford City. The line is but six miles long and was recently opened to Trafford City. The matter will be taken up by the borough council at the next meeting.

GOING TO THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

The exodus of old soldiers, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, to the national encampment to be held at San Francisco, August 4, will begin next Monday. At that time the special train of Abe Patterson post, No. 88, of Allegheny, which will be composed of seven tourist cars from Chicago west, will leave this city as a section of No. 9 on the Pennsylvania lines west.

This will probably be the largest excursion from Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the Pacific coast, and will leave Union station at 8 o'clock in the morning. This will be the official train of Abe Patterson post, and will be in charge of J. L. Shook, commander of the post, assisted by Comrades James Lowrie, H. O. C. Oehmler, Samuel Scott, A. M. Bryan and C. N. Burt. F. E. Shellaberger, general agent of the Santa Fe railroad, will accompany the post.

Quartermaster Lowrie and Commander Burtt are stocking the trains, and everybody will be well taken care of. Eleven days will be taken up between Chicago and San Francisco, the train stopping at all the principal places en route, going over the Ft. Wayne, Santa Fe & Southern Pacific railroad, returning by way of the Southern Pacific, Denever & Rio Grande, Union Pacific, Cincinnati, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Ft. Wayne, arriving home August 30.

HARMONY NO GO VERNER IS TOLD

Official Notice Served by Chairman Ford of Republican County Committee.

DEMOCRATS' VIEWS CONFLICT

Some Object to Fusion With Citizens Now, Others Are in Doubt and Still Others Will Take Almost Anything They Can Get.

While nearly everybody knew that the harmony negotiations between the Republicans and the Citizens party leaders had been discontinued, and that there would be no harmony, official notification to that effect was not made until yesterday morning. As it was rumored that there was some doubt whether harmony was dead or not, Thomas J. Ford, chairman of the Republican county committee, called yesterday at the office of Murry A. Verner, chairman of the Citizens party county committee, and told him that negotiations were all off. This is the way Mr. Ford put it:

"I called on Mr. Verner," he said, "and told him that there could be no agreement on the harmony proposition, and that it was evidently useless to try to reach an agreement. I can also say that in my personal opinion there is no way by which negotiations can be reopened."

Mr. Verner accepted Mr. Ford's statement as conclusive. "Later in the day he said that he would call the Citizens county committee together next week and acquaint it with the negotiations that had failed. Mr. Verner was asked whether he thought there would be fusion between the Democrats and Citizens in the autumn campaign, and he said that remained to be determined. James A. Clark, the Democratic county chairman, is out of the city, and until he comes back and appoints a committee on fusion no official negotiations can be held.

Mayor Hays always had been a little lukewarm on the harmony proposition, so his friends say, and he now advocates fusion with the Democrats.

Most of the prominent Democrats are absent, so their opinion on fusion could not be obtained. Some Democrats are angered by Thomas S. Bigelow's efforts to harmonize with the Republicans and say the Democrats ought to refuse to fuse with Mr. Bigelow's organization and decline to be a catspaw; others are dazed by the prospect of securing for a Democrat a fusion nomination for a county office, and are willing to swallow any bitter pill. The Democrats have demanded the fusion nomination for the district attorneyship, but some of the leaders are willing to forego that office and take anything Bigelow may conclude to give them.

W. E. Howley and Timothy O'Leary are Democrats who favor fusion with the Citizens party, but Controller John B. Larkin, as published in The Gazette yesterday, is opposed to fusion with Bigelow's organization and in favor of an alliance with independent voters.

Secretary Charles A. Muehlbronner of the Republican county committee looked quite pleased over the failure of the harmony negotiations.

"I can't see why we should have harmony with the Citizens organization," said Mr. Muehlbronner. "The Republican party in Allegheny county is in good shape, and I confidently believe that we will defeat the opposition at the next election."

"The Republican party is in splendid shape," said Treasurer D. L. Gillespie, "and when we have done the work we intend to do it will be in still better shape. We are going to organize for a winning fight next fall."

Last Span of Wildmerding Viaduct.

The last span on the new viaduct being erected by the Pittsburgh Railways Company to connect the McKeesport and Braddock divisions at Wilmerding and make a complete loop from Pittsburgh to Wilmerding, was placed yesterday over the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad. The viaduct will be ready for use within 30 days.

MUSTY CITY RECORDS ARE BEING COMPILED

American Historical Society Puts Expert Women Cataloguers at Work.

Two expert women cataloguers from the Carnegie library have established temporary headquarters in the city clerk's office to prepare a complete catalogue of all the public records of Pittsburgh from 1816, when it passed from a borough into a municipality.

All the ordinances, reports and other papers bearing upon the municipal history of Pittsburgh are being copied and will constitute the contents of a volume which will be published by the Smithsonian institute at Washington, D. C. The work is being done under the direction of the American Historical society, and it has engaged Miss H. St. B. Brooks of the Carnegie library to do the work.

E. S. Morrow, assistant city controller, said yesterday that the records of the city from its incorporation in 1816 to about 1870, are very incomplete, and many important documents have been lost. Mr. Morrow has made the collection of municipal relics one of his hobbies, and he has saved from ruin during his long service in the city hall many valuable papers which are now in the Carnegie museum. He said yesterday that the city clerk did not begin to keep a record of the city's affairs until 1872.

Gaugers Not to Be Suspended.

Chief Deputy Collector A. M. Cavitt of the local office of the internal revenue service denied the report that a number of gaugers in this district would be suspended. It is said four gaugers have been suspended in Philadelphia for nonperformance of duty on information furnished by saloonkeepers. Mr. Cavitt said that there are four gaugers on the street here constantly, and that they are reliable as far as he knows.

Larceny Charge Withdrawn.

The charge of larceny brought against William C. Miller by the Eichbaum Company on Monday, before Alderman J. V. McMasters, has been withdrawn. It was alleged that Miller had taken a quantity of gold leaf from the bindery. Yesterday it was found that a mistake had been made and the company withdrew the suit and paid the costs.

Tarentum Camp Meeting to Begin.

The Fifty-third session of the Methodist Episcopal camp meeting at Tarentum begins today, and will close August 9. The Rev. J. P. Mariatt of Tarentum has charge of the services, and has prepared an interesting program for the time the camp meeting will be in session.

CITY GETS DEED FOR ITS NEW PARK

Improvement of Shoenberger Property in Lawrenceville Urged by Mr. Zahniser.

NEARLY $30,000 IS LEFT FOR IT

Money Will Be Used to Build Playgrounds and Recreation Spot for District Along Butler Street—Want Work Started Soon.

Lawrenceville will soon have a public park. A few days ago the city obtained the deed for the Schoenberger tract between seven and eight acres in the Seventeenth ward, occupying the block between Butler, Forty-sixth, Lawrence and Forty-seventh streets, paying for the property $46,516.

In the bond fund of 1899 for the parks $75,302 was set aside for a public park in the Seventeenth ward, and it was not until last week that the city obtained possession of the site, owing to the delay occasioned by condemnation proceedings.

Select Councilman W. J. Zahniser of the Seventeenth ward called at the controller's office yesterday afternoon to learn how much money was on hand to make the ground suitable for a park. Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow found that there is $29,786 remaining from the bond fund for this purpose, and Mr. Zahnizer will call upon Director E. M. Bigelow as soon as that official returns to the city to ask him to commence at once to build the park.

"The park will be a great institution for Lawrenceville," said Mr. Zahnizer. "There is not a breathing spot in the entire district out Butler street, and that section is densely populated. My idea is to have the park made a recreation grounds for adults and also a play ground for children. There should be swings, a commodious pavilion, benches, walks, trees and schrubbery. It will be necessary to grade the park some, and this will cost about $12,000. The amount remaining in the bond fund will be ample to improve the ground and to put it in proper shape. Mr. Zahnizer said he wanted work started at once so the park could be opened to the public next year.

Of tomorrow we shall have further news.

President Roosevelt has ordered a material modification of the Chinese exclusion rules, the modification being necessary to permit the entrance of artisans and workmen who are to arrange the Chinese exhibits at the St. Louis exposition. It was never intended that the exclusion law should operate against these people, so the president's order does not overturn any essential principle. China has been extremely tolerant of the hostile restrictions of this country, preserving at all times a friendly attitude, and it is fortunate that the president is able to make this demonstration in return.

News comes from Russia that the government is establishing depots along the railroad in Siberia for American machinery. The demand for American agricultural machines and implements, timber tools and machinery for Siberian development is so great that private agencies have been unable to meet it. So the government has taken the matter up in order to facilitate development of the Siberian territory. This means another great wheat field for the supply of the world's needs and will postpone indefinitely the non-nitrogenous calamity predicted a few years ago by Sir William Crookes. It also means an expansion of American trade and ought to be the precursor to a modification of M. Witte's retaliatory tariff decree against the United States.

There is the Hungarian diet again. It resumed sessions yesterday with a new premier, but the same old tactics. When the new premier tried to make a motion his voice could not be heard above the din of shouts, banging of desk lids and other wild demonstrations by the deputies. When he offered the motion in writing the clerk was overpowered and the paper torn to shreds. A pretty example of parliamentary government! And no sergeants-at-arms to expel the disorderly mob. The Hungarian diet is a farce, or worse. Its sittings might well be permanently suspended. It utterly fails to perform the functions for which it is intended, in which respect it is considerably worse than Pittsburgh councils—worse even than the select council hold-up contingent.

With the return to St. Petersburg of Gen. Kuropatkin, Russian minister of war, it is given out unofficially that it is believed he has negotiated a treaty with Japan that will avert all possibility of war over Manchuria. Berlin also has advices giving details of the supposed treaty, which include three open ports, the right of Japan to maintain consulates everywhere, the immediate evacuation of Manchuria except a strong military guard for the railroad. This is gratifying news. It will not please all elements in Russia and probably will not satisfy all in Japan, but it is a fair program and is in line with Russian promises to the United States. The feeling of relief, however, will be more pronounced when the treaty has been ratified by the czar and his government and officially promulgated.

One of the Quiet Observer's correspondents produces again that old theory that poverty is in some way related to private property in land—the Henry George theory. He has a right to believe that if he so desires, but the idea is fallacious and to some extent mischievous. Where it gets root there is apt to be a deal of idle complaining about the existing order of things and time that should be spent in overcoming poverty is given to useless lamentation. Private ownership in land and in chattels is probably the best institution that has grown out of human experience. It is the incentive to effort that has developed the world's resources, so that crop failure in one section is not ordinarily followed by famine or pestilence. Ownership in common and free land were suited to the nomadic state, when might made right and the strongest bully compelled the tribe to do work enough for its subsistence.

The active canvassing going on in the interest of different candidates to the papacy affords a poor indication of the decision of the conclave. As there must be a majority of two-thirds to elect, a division of electoral votes among various candidates is apt to result in the selection of some compromise candidate. This was the case at the time Pope Leo himself was chosen. The ultimate choice is so often a surprise that the only safe prediction is that some Italian cardinal will be elected. This is not because the choice of the cardinals is in any way restricted by church law. Their absolute freedom of choice is such that it has been said that if they saw fit they could elect "a baptized negro from the banks of the Congo." The choice is practically confined to the selection of some distinguished Italian cardinal, because the interests of the church dictate that course.

America figures largely in the debate now going on in England as to the respective merits of protection and free trade. The well-known novelist, Conan Doyle, the creator of "Sherlock Holmes" is taking a prominent part as a champion of protection and instances its success in this country as an example to England. He says that American exports to England amount to $500,000,000, while English exports to this country are valued at only $90,000,000. If by the imposition of protective duties some of this $500,000,000 is diverted to British colonies the empire will be the gainer, and British exports to this country can hardly be affected, as they are only such as this country needs and cannot supply herself. Whatever can be done by American duties levied upon foreign goods has already been done. The argument whether sound or not indicates how deeply the protective sentiment developed in England concerns this country.

Select Council's Duty.

Superintendent Moore's opinion that typhoid fever is no worse now than a year ago is not saying much, as it was bad enough to kill 459 persons last year. So frightful a death loss might have been expected to be the maximum, as dire experience would teach people to take such precautions as would abate the plague despite the pollution of the water supply. The Chinese know nothing of sand filtration or mechanical filtration, but they escape typhoid fever, through the national habit of boiling water and drinking it hot. One of the things which causes the Chinese to despise the western barbarians is that they drink cold water, and when cold water is the harbor of typhoid fever germs the Chinese are not far wrong in their estimate of us.

Great as was the typhoid fever death roll last year, it has shown some increase this year. For the six months ending July 1, the deaths numbered 250 as against 248 for the same period last year. We agree with Superintendent Moore that the reports of typhoid fever cases made to the health department are not an accurate index of the spread of the disease, as cases are much more numerous than are reported. It is true that only about ten per cent of attacks of typhoid fever are fatal, and this indicates that there were at least 2,500 cases this year, but no such number was reported to the health board.

President Lambie has issued a call for a meeting of the select council. As matters stand the best thing select council can do is to join with common council in the call upon Director Bigelow for new estimates. We believe that the ordinances which have been held up by the filtration committee ought to have been passed. There was sufficient money in hand for the purpose, and assertions to the contrary rest upon false pretenses. But over 16 months have elapsed since the estimates were prepared and a change of administration has taken place. Hence we recognize the reasonableness of the demand that Director Bigelow shall prepare a fresh set of estimates based upon present conditions. Director Bigelow was a member of the filtration commission, which reported unanimously in favor of sand filtration. He will now have the opportunity of completing the work according to the plans of the commission. There can be no greater opportunity for service to the public. Pure water supply is more important than parks, boulevards, the cutting down of the Hump, the removal of the Liberty avenue tracks, or any other municipal improvement.

The Truth of the Matter.

While the Pittsburgh postoffice makes a splendid showing in its annual report of receipts and expenses it is not putting it fairly, as one Pittsburgh newspaper does, to represent that the whole sum of the difference between receipts and expenses is a surplus which, "together with that accruing from postoffices in other large communities, is used to overcome the deficit resulting from the operations of the postoffices in the sparsely settled districts of the south and west." The receipts of the Pittsburgh postoffice in the past fiscal year amounted to $1,407,109 94, and the expenses were only $438,598 46. This, it is true, left a surplus for the National treasury of $968,511 48, but by no means all of it can be devoted to overcoming deficits of postoffices in sparsely settled districts, and to the extension of the rural free delivery service, for it costs something to carry the mails away from Pittsburgh, and this cost does not appear in the local report of expenses of operation. It is not until Pittsburgh's proper proportion of the general expense of operating the whole postal service is figured out that it can be ascertained what portion of the apparent surplus is actual profit to the government available, with that "accruing from the postoffices in other large communities," to make good the deficits in regions where business is done at an actual loss.

When a man pays two cents to the clerk at the stamp window in Pittsburgh the sum properly figures in the receipts of the office, but when the letter is delivered at San Francisco, there is a cost to the general service for transportation from Pittsburgh to San Francisco that would be properly chargeable against the Pittsburgh office if it were an independent business institution and not a part of the general postal system. The cost of transporting away from Pittsburgh to points of destination the business that originates in Pittsburgh is a proper charge against the surplus of local receipts over local expenditures. Could this sum be ascertained and deducted from the apparent surplus of the Pittsburgh office the sum left to be devoted to making up the deficits of the postoffices of the sparsely sellted districts of the south and west would not be so great. To say this does not detract in any degree from the Pittsburgh postoffice as a great and good thing. It is great enough and good enough to be superior to claims in its behalf that are not fully justified. To say that this community paid out nearly $1,000,000 last year for which it received no return and that the big cities are all in the same boat, is not fair to the rest of the United States. There is glory enough for all. Let the small towns and the country districts have the share that belongs to them, for Pittsburgh people want their two-cent letters delivered to Wayback, Tex., and Hardscrabble, Ga., as well as to Atlantic City. They also want to receive their letters from those points.

Not Enough Water.

Yesterday the Ohio river packets were halted at Sewickley. The stage of water would not permit them to come farther. Their passengers and cargo are necessarily forwarded by rail, coming into Pittsburgh over the Allegheny river bridges. Obviously there is pressing necessity for the improvement of that waterway so these interruptions to the movement of commerce shall not occur. It is a serious thing and a hindrance to the development of the Ohio valley to have the free movement of boats obstructed, during a large part of every year, by the nearly dry bed of the river. Of course, the Ohio valley has developed somewhat with the aid of the railroads and there has been considerable growth in the Connoquenessing, Shenango, Neshannock and Mahoning valleys due to railroad transportation. But it must be obvious that the development of the Ohio valley is retarded by existing conditions.

We heard a little about this at the inaugural celebration at Herrs island dam Tuesday, but we heard a great deal more about the obstruction of navigation by the bridges across the Allegheny river which carry a large portion of the traffic of the Mahoning, Shenango, etc., in addition to that of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. We heard much that is not so, and yesterday the organ of the bridge-raising clique promulgated this gross prevarication: "Finally, when the fleet got up to the Forty-third street bridge, none of the vessels could pass, and the water parade was halted by that barrier." As a matter of fact, but one of the vessels was unable to pass that "barrier." That one was the Florence Belle, added to the fleet after careful calculation of its height and an order given to raise the new dam a foot above its ordinary level. That one foot made a "barrier" of that one bridge, the Florence Belle being unable to clear by something less than the diameter of its smokestacks.

The real question of river improvement is one of water, not of clearance. With the construction of the dams the Allegheny river will be navigable for towboats and barges as far as the slackwater extends, except at periods of very high water. The average interruption due to low bridges, on the basis of nine years' official statistics, will be about five days a year. That is about the same as the interruption on the Monongahela from high water and is a mere bagatelle compared with the annual closure of the Ohio on account of low water, or on the Allegheny at present from the same cause. Yet the Allegheny River Improvement association prefers to expend its time and energy in a campaign against the river bridges to put a burden upon other traffic, rather than in an effort to get more locks and dams for both the Allegheny and Ohio rivers. We think it is making a mistake and not forwarding the interests of the Allegheny valley to the best of its ability.

It Means Much to Us.

The split in the British cabinet over the protective tariff policy is steadily becoming more marked. In order to counteract Mr. Chamberlain's educational campaign in favor of protection, a Unionist Free-Food league has been organized by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, a prominent party leader, and until lately chancellor of the exchequer. It is stated that 60 members of the party have joined this league. The Unionist party is now openly divided on the issue, one section following Chamberlain, and the other Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. Both sections are represented in the cabinet and as soon as the issue is raised in parliament the government will break up. This is well understood on both sides, but for the present it is agreed that no change of fiscal policy shall be proposed until the legislative business now pending has been disposed of. Then will come a dissolution of parliament and an appeal to the country on the tariff issue.

The present Conservative-Liberal Unionist party which controls the government, was organized in opposition to Gladstone's Irish home rule bill, and is composed of Conservatives and seceders from the Liberal party, one of the latter being Mr. Chamberlain, colonial secretary in the present cabinet. The original principle of the party organization has been practically extinguished by the Irish land bill which is admitted to be a final settlement of that question. The party therefore stands in need of a new issue, and this Mr. Chamberlain has provided by his scheme of the economic union of the empire thus charging the party name with a new meaning powerfully appealing to imperial sentiment. The scheme requires England to abandon her free trade policy, as it calls for the imposition of protective duties with reciprocal preferences between England and her colonies, and over this issue a great battle has begun.

American public opinion has not been aroused to the importance of the issue as regards this country, but public sentiment in Germany is painfully alert upon the subject, as the British empire is the chief field of German commerce, and German manufacturing industry will immediately experience the effects of any tariff preferences in favor of English made goods. The effects upon this country will also be profound. It is obvious that if grain exports to England from this country are subject to a duty, while Canadian exports go free, the development of the Canadian wheat fields will be powerfully simulated. But the general results of the change have yet to be fully considered. Civil Service Commissioner Proctor has said in an interview that it will be a question "whether we can maintain the Dingley tariff under such circumstances," but Mr. Proctor is not regarded as an authority upon such matters, and the congressional leaders who will have to deal with the matter when it takes practical shape, are refraining from anticipations. If Mr. Blaine were alive he would doubtless urge the necessity of strengthing our industrial position by reciprocity agreements, for he foresaw just such a development of British policy as is now taking place. The political issue in England may eventually give rise to new issues in this country.

John D. Long, former secretary of the navy, can't cause a quarrel in this country by declaring that the German army is, perhaps, the most complete in Europe. And it may be remarked further that it is not only complete, but costly.

Of course, there is no friction in the police bureau as to who shall act hereafter in the superintendent's place when he is away, now that it has been discovered that there is an assistant superintendent on the pay roll.

An' likewise with 'is gab,
Is goin' ag'nst that Jeffries boy
That's got a awful jab.

If it sh'd be a straightout fight,
It ain't no job t' tell
That Jeff would hit that actor man
An' knock 'im all t'—well.
He'd knock 'im into slumberland
So most outrageous quick
It wouldn't be no fight at all;
Th' sports would all be sick.

But fighters is a tricky bunch;
Nobody needn't hope
T' guess when it's th' real thing
Or when it's only dope.
An' I can't tell which one t' pick,
Ner how t' give er take
Unless I git some inside facts
An' know she's not a fake.

But here's my money layin' round
Not doin' me no good;
If I could find which way t' bet
You're mighty right I would.
But I won't be unless I'm sure,
An' there's th' rub, ye see;
Th' country's runnin' over with
Such two-cent sports as me.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Machiavelli says virtue and riches seldom settle on one man.

—Anatomy of Melancholy.

These old-time fellows had a way of saying things that would hardly be regarded as good form in their time.

And then, as now, there were a great many who seemed to have it in for the rich. There was Seneca, one of the fathers of law and philosophy, who held that the gods are pleased when they see great men contending with adversity.

Burton, the author of "The Anatomy of Melancholy," held that the rich are rather possessed of their money than possessors. Of the rich man he says:

"Like a hog or a dog in the manger, he doth only keep his riches because it shall do nobody else good, hurting himself and others."

And some of these old ones were not slow when it came to playing for position. There was Isocrates, who advised Demonicus, when he came to a strange city, to worship by all means the gods of the place.

* * * * *

Riches, from all accounts, have been the root of much evil in the world. And, if we may judge of the future by the past, there is a vast store of evil yet to be brought out, for there are many longing and striving to become rich.

There is this consolation, however, that the rich are seldom wealthy, being too scary, too niggardly, too selfish, to put their money where it will do most good—most good for themselves, the community and the world.

The truly rich are never generous, being for themselves first, last and all the time; while the truly wealthy are those who make the best possible use of their possessions, according to their best judgment. They are generous without being profligate or wasteful, helpful without becoming almoners, philanthropic without countenancing improvidence.

The real men of wealth give freely and cheerfully when satisfied that their giving will be a real, a permanent benefit. Naturally enough, all men do not see alike, nor feel alike, consequently do not act alike. Hence the various ways of the wealthy.

We can hardly find fault with those who have plenty for first serving themselves, even if they serve themselves well. Yet a great many do fault them for living well and in great comfort, which they would do themselves had they the chance. As Burton puts it. "Set a beggar on horseback and he will ride a gallop."

Dear Quiet Observer—Your readers, and they are legion, were no doubt unusually interested by your analysis of poverty in your column last Sunday.

As economists and philosophers in the main consider poverty only by its co-relation to production and distribution, it is a new gleam in political economy that ascribes a tendency to poverty in one who spends his pennies for tops and whistles in the thoughtlessness of childhood.

No other one utterance ascribed to Christ has been worked in all its phases by pseudo-philosophers and teachers of His word than that which we know in the form of "The poor ye always have with you." It was this as a superstructure upon which Malthus built his blasphemous and now almost universally discredited system of philosophy, which asserted that population naturally tends to increase faster than subsistence; in other words, society presses to the limit of production—hence famines, wars and pestilence were beneficent (?) agents to lessen the density of population.

To the aristocratic non-producing class this doctrine was hailed as the enunciation of a new law from Sinai, for if there was poverty in the world with all its attendant misery, it was all God's fault; poverty for some is "natural," because it cultivates patience and brings that state of beatitude which rounds out the soul for the full reward in immortality.

It was Michelet who said: "No consecrated absurdity would have stood its ground in the world if the man had not silenced the objections of the child."

Now, if we consider it, injustice and absurdity are simply different aspects of incongruity. That which to right reason is unjust must be to right reason absurd. But an injustice that impoverishes the many to enrich the few shifts the centers of social power, and thus controls the social organs and agencies of opinion and education. Growing in acceptance and strength by what it feeds on, it has only to continue to exist to become at length so vested, or rooted, not in the constitution of the human mind itself, but in that constitution of opinion, beliefs and habits of thought which we take, as we take our mother tongue, from our social environment; that it is not perceived as injustice or absurdity, but seems even to the philosopher an integral part of the natural order with which it were as idle if not impious to quarrel as with the constitution of the elements.

In this lies the explanation of the fact that, looking through the vista of what we know of human history we everywhere find what are to us the most palpable absurdities enshrining themselves in the human mind as unquestionable truths—whole nations the prey of preposterous superstitions, abasing themselves before fellow creatures, often before idiots or voluptuaries, whom their imagination has converted into representatives of the Diety; the great masses toiling, suffering, starving, that those they bear on their shoulders may live idly and daintily. But mankind has not toiled in vain, for wherever and whenever what we may now see to be a palpable absurdity has passed for truth, we may, if we look closely enough, see that there has always been behind it crouched some powerful special interest, and that the man has hushed the questioning of the child.

This is human nature. The world is no new to us when we first enter it; we are so compelled at every turn to rely upon what we are told rather than on what we ourselves discover; what we find to be the common and respected opinion of others has with us such almost irresistible weight that it becomes possible for a special interest, by usurping the teaching province to make to us black seem white and wrong seem right.

"Poverty," says Carlyle, "is the hell of which the modern Englishman is most afraid." And in the Indian Vedas we may read of the wise crow, Bushanda, telling the eagle-bearer of Vishnu, that the keenest pain is poverty. With all the progress of science and the discovery of hidden laws, bringing new forces into action, enormously increasing the volume of the world's wealth, poverty grows keener, the social lines more closely drawn.

Look around this noble city of Pittsburgh, where the display of human energy is nowhere paralleled, yet consider that while within the limits of the city human beings are glad of the shelter of cellars, there are hundreds of acres of vacant land, land held out of use because society still recognizes the consecrated absurdity of private property in land. The enormous values attaching to land while our city grows, instead of being used for the good of all, goes into the pocket of the individual holder, who does nothing but wait upon the necessities of society for the payment to him of increased rent or the purchase at his prices—at a valuation measured by the market and individual greed.

God, in His everlasting love for His children, has filled the earth with every essential for their comfort and material blessing, and it is through the satisfaction of temporal wants that the light breaks by which man's spiritual nature grows and he sees all the harmony of God's plan by which is intended he may realize the highest exaltations of thought, surrounded by a nobler civilization.

But in the appropriation of the earth as private property the divine will is violated. The kingdom of God is simply right living, and in its deeper analysis we may clearly see the sublime beauty of the Christ's prayer: "Try will be done, as in heaven, so also upon the earth."

Financial Legislation.

Not all prominent Republicans think financial legislation is needed. Mr. Cannon, who is to be speaker of the next house, does not think it is. It is apparently the opinion of the majority that congress should do something. If that be the case, the party leaders ought to get together before congress meets and agree, if possible, on a party policy as regards financial legislation.—Chicago Tribune.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 29.—If you get away from Rockaway Beach with any money in your pockets after spending a day there, it is because you are absolutely proof against cajolery. Coney Island is known as a place where the fakirs work visitors for all that they have, as a rule, but Coney is a generous and unsophisticated community compared with Rockaway. There are the shows, merry-go-rounds, fortune tellers and fakirs of all kinds at both places, but at Coney Island it does not make the denizens weep when a visitor takes enough of his cash back with him to Manhattan to pay his car fare home. At Rockaway Beach such a thing is regarded as an imposition on them. Undrinkable lemonade and so-called ice cream sods, little dabs of inferior ice cream at 15 cents a dab, and poor beer at 10 cents a glass are some of the features of Rockaway that you do not find at Coney Island. The steeplechase, roller coasters and other machinery for giving you a thrill at 5 cents a thrill are up to specification, and old ocean rolls up on the sands as breezily as ever it did. The bath houses are not a tighter fit for a full-sized man than they are at every seashore resort, and if one has to hire a bathing suit he is just as likely to get some kind of a baggy fit at Rockaway as he is at Atlantic City. But the commissariat department is something to beware of. There are more restaurants than any other kind of business establishment and 90 per cent of them are bad. The viands are third class, the prices those you would pay in a first class restaurant in Broadway. Perhaps it is because Rockaway Beach, being further away from Manhattan than Coney Island, it is not so easy to attract visitors, and therefore the restaurant helpers are determined to get all the money they can in one day out of the people who do go there. I do not know the purpose, but I am sure of the facts I have stated.

A Travesty On the Past.

It is interesting to compare Rockaway Beach as it is today, a place of cheap shows and eating houses, with what it was a quarter of a century ago. In the seventies it was a distinctly fashionable quarter. The largest hotel in America overlooked the beach, and it was the center of a colony of private cottages, in which lived wealthy and socially prominent people. But that was before the cheap boat excursions, and trolleys brought it within reach of every one. No doubt Rockaway gives pleasure every summer to many more people than were able to reach it in the old days, but old-fashioned New Yorkers of wealth always insist that the deterioration is something to make the judicious grieve.

The Shivers Are Free.

Whatever the weather and water may be at other points along the coast of the Atlantic ocean, it cannot be denied that sea bathing in the vicinity of New York is a chilly experience. The winds this week have been and are very cool, and although the water itself is not unpleasant getting from the sea to a bath house is something to make one shiver.

Final Mourning Ceremony for Leo.

St. Patrick's cathedral, in its mourning drapery of purple and black, and dimly lighted by the candles at the high altar, was filled with a reverent assemblage this morning. Solemn pontifical mass of requiem was celebrated by Archbishop John M. Farley, and the last rites of the church in mourning for the dead pope were performed. Following the mass, Mgr. John Mooney, vicar general of the diocese, eulogized Leo in a magnificent oration. This was the ninth and last day of the prescribed period of mourning for Leo XIII., and the ceremonies were the most impressive that have been seen in the cathedral since the pontiff passed away. A great many places of business whose heads are Roman Catholics were closed this forenoon.

Pitfall Caused His Death.

Much sorrow is shown in this city over the tragic death of John A. Mooney, LL. D., in the Adirondacks, the particulars of which did not reach New York until today. Mr. Mooney was walking along the edge of a precipice, when he stooped to gather a wild flower. He stepped upon what he supposed was a heap of underbrush on the solid ground. It proved to be lying over a deep hole, and Mr. Mooney fell about 20 feet. His skull was fractured and he died instantly. The deceased was one of the most prominent Catholic literary men in the United States. He and his works are well known in Pittsburgh.

Lipton's Erin a Beauty.

Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, Erin, which lies in the North river except when it happens to be off Sandy Hook, to allow its owner to witness the movements of his two Shamrocks, is the most generally admired craft in the harbor. It is distinguished easily from other private steam yachts by the British naval flag, with the cross bars on a blue field, hanging over the taffrail and the Shamrock ensign floating from its forepeak. It is all white, except for the green stripe running around its water line, and the ventilators and other portions of its equipment that are of brass or copper, glisten in the sun with a radiance that attracts attention, even when one is not looking for the steamer Sir Thomas spends nearly all his time aboard, and considering what a beauty the Erin is, no one can blame him.

Whitaker Wright, who stepped out of Ludlow street jail into a closed carriage today, to ride to the steamer Oceanic, was not such a debonair figure as when he arrived in this city several months ago. Prison life has not agreed with him evidently. He is not so stout, and the prison pallor has taken the place of ruddy cheeks. He is on his way to England tonight, and doubtless is enjoying the free breeze which blow across the deck of the ship. He said before he departed today that as soon as he reached England he would spend the time until his case came up in November at one of his country places.

Masons to Lay Corner Stone.

There will be an important corner stone laying at Elizabeth, N. J., tomorrow. It will be the first step toward putting up the new $900,000 court house. The ceremony will be in charge of the grand lodge of Free Masons of the state. Many New York Masons will attend.

A. Y. M. C. A. Roof Garden.

While the Y. M. C. A. of Manhattan is busy finishing its new house in West Twenty-third street, the Brooklyn branch of the association is also getting ready to take possession of its new building at Monroe street and Bedford avenue. The cost of the edifice will be at least $300,000, all of which has been raised by popular subscription. Among the features of the building will be a roof garden and restaurant which are expected to be as fine as anything in Manhattan. Brooklyn is putting on metropolitan airs, indeed.

Defender of the Cup.

The sudden selection of the Reliance to defend the America's cup is surprising only because it annuls the official program of further trial races. Since her first appearance under canvas there has been no reason to believe that a different boat would be chosen, and it has been evident for weeks that she deserved, and, barring accidents, would win the honor of meeting Shamrock III. The committee's decision is therefore wise. Nobody can possibly feel that it is unfair to the Constitution, though that boat has done far better, on the whole, than she did two years ago; or to the Columbia, whose participation in the trials under Mr. E. D. Morgan's unselfish management has been exceedingly useful, while it has shown that no new distinction awaited the old defender this year. Moreover, if the Reliance were to engage in additional trials she would be exposed to unnecessary risks and might be hopelessly disabled. The first of the cup races is only three weeks off, and it would be injudicious to take the chance of injuries which could not be repaired within that time. No doubt remains that the Reliance is the fastest boat under all conditions that American designers have produced.—New York Tribune.

\+ \+ \+ \+

This decision of the committee does not come as a surprise. It has been generally understood by those who have closely followed the work of the yachts that the latest creation of Herreshoff was by several minutes the best of the trio. Her speed and stability with all kinds of weather conditions have shown her to be a remarkable craft, and probably good enough to defeat anything afloat, and the committee wisely decided to pin their faith to her as the cup defender. C. Oliver Iselin, probably the keenest and best of our amateur yachtsmen, is of the opinion that the Reliance will be successful in defending the cup, while, on the other hand, Sir Thomas is just as confident that the speed of his third Shamrock will carry him to victory. With both sides so confident of victory, it only remains for the outside public to bottle up their enthusiasm and wait until the races are over before shouting.—Brooklyn Times.

In a long series of brushes with Columbia and the Constitution, the Reliance has manifested a decisive margin of superiority over both. Since the Columbia has twice successfully defended the America's cup, while the Constitution this year has shown a degree of speed which she never reached before, it is evident that the boat chosen is the ablest racing machine of her type afloat under the American flag.

Whether she will beat the challenger is a question which can only be determined by the actual event. That the third Shamrock is a fast and formidable boat is unquestioned, and no American who loves genuine sport would wish her to be otherwise. There would be little glory in keeping the cup against a signally inferior opponent. The races next month will be pretty sure to be close enough to be exciting.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The suddenness of the selection of the Reliance for the America's cup defense, cutting short the trial races between the Reliance, Columbia and Constitution, was only in keeping with what the experts believed the decision of the committee on challenges of the New York Yacht club would be. From the first of the trials the Reliance has demonstrated her ability to hold her own against all comers, and has shown a clean heel to her competitors for the honor of representing this country against that of Sir Thomas Lipton. She has been in one severe accident, emerging, however, without injury of a permanent character, and nothing now remains but to train her in for her important task off Sandy Hook.—Baltimore News.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The Reliance has fully demonstrated her superiority in the several points considered essential in a racing machine, and is properly chosen to compete with the Shamrock III. As a matter of prudence, also, it is wise to stop these contests while the boats are whole. It would be very awkward indeed if, as has recently happened, a big sea were to smash a plate in the defender on the eve of the cup races, or her big spars, carried away in a light breeze. Better take off the Reliance, do her up in cotton and bring her out next month to beat the challenger, as she undoubtedly will do.—Boston Post.

\+ \+ \+ \+

It is an unprecedented action to choose the defender of the America's cup after the first trial race, but we believe the New York Yacht club is justified in giving this honor to Reliance. Her margin over Constitution and Columbia is very small, much less than the figures for elapsed time indicate, but it appears to be constant and sufficient. She has also had a minimum of mishaps for a boat of her class. In general her construction does great credit to her designer and builder. To her managing owner and Capt. Barr especial congratulations are due for the successful outcome of a remarkable series of races. Reliance is the consummate type of the racing machine. Shamrock III. is a wholesome boat. Whether she wins or loses, cruising yachtsmen will feel that her racing fortune hardly affects her essential merits.—New York Evening Post.

\+ \+ \+ \+

It is a gratifying fact that the latest creation of America's yacht builders has displayed her superiority over all earlier built boats so clearly that the committee was justified in selecting her to defend the cup without the formality of a series of races. It was already beyond doubt that Reliance is the fastest "30-footer" ever launched on this side, and her showing in the official test on Monday over Columbia and Constitution was so conclusive that the decision of the committee was immediate and unanimous.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A National Peril.

An outbreak of Asiatic cholera or bubonic plague in half a dozen parts of the country would excite universal fear and popular demand for vigorous suppression. The spread of mob violence and lynching is a greater menace than a plague, says the New York World. It is no exaggeration to describe it as a national peril. Formerly we had occasional lynchings in a sparsely settled section of the country—lynchings confined to negroes and negroes guilty of one species of crime. The lynchers pleaded that the courts were slow and uncertain and that the protection of their wives and daughters demanded this prompt and exemplary punishment, and these violations of the law were, in a sense, condoned by popular sentiment. What is the result? Like a horrible and infectious disease, the mob spirit has extended over the country. Outrages are increasing in number, are occurring in formerly law-abiding communities, whites as well as blacks are sacrificed and an accusation of alm

President Roosevelt and Sons Camped Out Tuesday on the Sound.

MOTHER JONES AT OYSTER BAY

Failed to See the President, However. Rumors That She Has Been Deceived by Her Grand Vizier—Was Asked to Write a Letter.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, July 29.—Under an ominous sky that constantly threatened to deluge all Long Island, President Roosevelt, his sons, Kermit and Archie, their cousins, Philip, George and Oliver Roosevelt, and George Russell, a Princeton student, and son of the Presbyterian minister here, slept in the open last night. The campers escaped a wetting and declared they had "a bully good time."

In rowboats they left the pier at Sagamore Hill about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Blankets, camp paraphernalia and provisions enough for a day were piled in and the objective point of the expedition was Lloyds Neck, on the shore of Huntington bay, 10 miles from Sagamore Hill. The distance was rowed easily and about 8:30 o'clock the skiffs grounded on the beach opposite a wooded spot ideally situated for a night camp.

A fire was kindled and over it was quickly broiled beef in much the same manner that the president cooked his meals when he was ranching in Dakota. A few minutes later each of the campers was wrapped in a blanket fast asleep beneath the big trees.

They were all astir early and ate a simple breakfast with great relish after they had a swim in the bay. Then the boats were sought and by 9 o'clock Mrs. Roosevelt was being told about it on the veranda at Sagamore Hill.

Former Senator W. D. Washburn of Minnesota was one of the president's callers today. Postmaster General Payne will arrive tomorrow.

"Mother" Jones at Oyster Bay.

Mother Jones and a minor legion of her army occupied Oyster Bay this morning, but she failed to make an escalade of Sagamore Hill and recite to President Roosevelt the woes of the Pennsylvania textile workers. At least one of the factors against her, was some interesting information about her spectacular progress here, placed in Secretary Barnes' hands by the secret service, an operative of which joined the army as soon as it left Philadelphia for New York and Oyster Bay. He found out that John Lopez, 'Mother' Jones' secretary and confidential adviser, was a member of the staff of a Philadelphia newspaper who had joined the army ostensibly as a textile worker with instructions from his newspaper to move heaven and earth to get 'Mother' Jones to the president, to accompany her and thus to gain a direct statement of the president's views on certain labor problems. It is understood the army had the financial support of the Philadelphia newspaper.

John Lopez, it was learned, wrote the first letter to the president, asking for an interview. Whether "Mother" Jones knew the identity of the grand vizier is not known, but the president did not propose to be roped into any scheme for quoted expression of his views.

Didn't Get an Interview.

"Mother" Jones and the army entered Oyster Bay quietly at 10 o'clock this morning. The force consisted of "Mother" Jones, her secretary, another man and three male and puny boys in ragged knickerbockers, who were to be exhibited to the president, as representatives of the effect of mill work on the young. "Mother" Jones, among other things, wants the president to suppress child labor. She inquired the way to the executive offices and then split up the army, sending one wing to the offices, and she herself led the main body there by way of South street. The army reunited at the bottom of the office stairs. "Mother" Jones started up. The army marked time on the sidewalk.

Secretary Barnes was looking over the mail when he heard a determined voice in the hall.

"I'm 'Mother' Jones, and I'm going to see the president's secretary."

"Show the lady in," said Secretary Barnes to an attendant. She explained her errand. Mr. Barnes said she could not see the president, but that if she would write a letter it would receive due consideration. Mr. Barnes could not promise even the letter would get her a personal interview. "Mother" Jones and her army left town tonight, but she declined to say where she was bound.

NO CANDIDATE CAN HURT HIM

Don. M. Dickinson Says Roosevelt Alone Is the Peoples' Choice.

DEMOCRATS NEED TIMBER

Nestor of the Old Gold Standard Says Bryan Will Be Repudiated by Democrats, but Is Silent as to Their Choice—John Murphy Is Ill.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DETROIT, MICH., July 29.—That Don M. Dickinson, one of the nestors of the old gold standard proposition, should still have faith in a triumph of his party, in the coming national campaign, is I believe a piece of information that the Democratic party in this country has not yet had. When I saw him in his office today he was tangled up with the legal aspects of an important case, and when the subject of national politics was broached, he said that his experience had been such, that if conditions would permit it, he would much prefer to remain in the background.

"Mr. Dickinson, has it occurred to you that the Democratic party needs timber?" was asked.

"Yes, of course we need timber; but we have it."

"What is it?"

"As every one knows, Mr. Cleveland is a candidate; there is Mr. Francis of Missouri, and I might mention several others. I think I may say the next national Democratic convention will repudiate Bryanism."

"The name of Mr. Shepard of New York has been mentioned frequently of late. Does he stand in line as acceptable to the party?"

"Mr. Shepard supported Bryan."

"It might not with me, but it becomes a grave question as to his availability as a vote getter; although Democrats still like an out-and-out Bryanite, provided their interests are mutual."

The subject was then broached of himself as a piece of timber for consideration, and with his characteristic serene smile, he said:

"Impossible; I would never permit it." When asked for an expression of opinion, as to the other gentlemen whose names have been mentioned so far, Mr. Dickinson refused to give any further expression, and said that he thought he had been on the firing line long enough, and that he felt that he would be grateful from this on for the same rest that busy men crave and enjoy.

From his talk it is clearly evident that he does not sympathize with Bryanism; but he would not express the name of the man who in his judgment would receive the nomination. Turning to the opposite party, I asked:

"Mr. Dickinson, whom do the people of this country favor for a candidate next year?"

"By all means, Roosevelt. If my observation is worth anything I see no other figure before the Republican party today except Mr. Roosevelt; it is not necessary for you to mention other names, I don't believe, with the exception of a complimentary vote, that he will have genuine competition."

I ran up to Mt. Clemens this evening and I understand that John R. Murphy is a sick man. He believes it is only a temporary indisposition. Yesterday he came up from his summer home at the mouth of Clinton river with Mrs. Murphy, and is now under the direct care of a physician at one of the hotels.

H. B. LAYTON.

THE DEATH ROLL

Henry P. McCullough.

Henry P. McCullough, well known among business men, horsemen and politicians in this city, died at midnight Tuesday at his home, No. 210 Winebiddle avenue, in the 61st year of his age. He expired of a complication of diseases and had been ill since last December. Previous to his death he had been confined to his bed seven weeks after returning from a two months' trip to Atlantic City, where he had gone for his health.

Mr. McCullough was born in Greene county and came to Pittsburgh when 25 years of age. For 20 years he had lived at the corner of Stanton and Euclid avenues, removing from there to the house where he died about a year ago. He represented th Eight ward in councils at one time, being a resident then of Congress street. He was a great friend of the late H. I. Gourley and former Mayor William McCallin, both of whom he assisted in many political campaigns. He was for years secretary of the Homewood Driving association and was also well known as a starter at harness races in this vicinity. He acted in that capacity last fall at Wheeling, and also officiated on tracks at Washington, Pa.; Weynesburg, Erie, Cleveland and many other places in recent years.

Until a few years ago Mr. McCullough was in the wholesale grocery and paper supply business in Seventh street, the firm being McCullough & Smith. He succeeded his uncle, Henry McCullough, who had been in the business previously. Mr. McCullough was an artist of much ability, and many of his friends have canvasses that were painted by him. The large military picture in Newell's hotel entitled "The Alarm" was painted by Mr. McCullough. The deceased man leaves a widow, formerly Mrs. Sarah McCaffrey, whom he married 25 years ago. His first wife, who had been Miss Stephens of Greene county, died 27 years ago. In addition to his widow, Mr. McCullough is survived by eight children, as follows: Charles S., a carpet dealer of New York city; Mrs. Paul Dunlevy of Crafton, and Henry, Edwin and Marie, all minors. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning, requiem high mass to be said at the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church at 8:30 o'clock. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

WORK MAY COME TO SUDDEN STOP

Builders' League Exchange Threatens General Lockout Within 48 Hours.

TROUBLE IS OVER ENGINEERS

Scale Offered Is Not Satisfactory to Contractors—Ultimatum Is Issued—Building Operations Will Cease Unless a Settlement Is Effected.

All building operations in this district may be suspended within 48 hours. The Builders' League Exchange, composed of employers, met last night in special session, to consider the action of the Building Trades council, representing the workmen, in calling out all men employed by the A. & S. Wilson Company, because the firm refused to hire a union hoisting engineer and sign the scale. The firm is said to be willing to attach its signature to the agreement, but the Master Builders' association, of which the firm is a member, considers it unreasonable and will not permit any of its members to sign it.

At the meeting last night the Builders' League Exchange adopted the following resolution:

That a committee be appointed to notify the Building Trades council that the employes of the A. & S. Wilson Company and others that are affiliated with the Building Trades council who have been called off the work, must return within 48 hours. If they fail to do so, the employers of all workmen connected with the Building Trades council will suspend all operations until the matter has been satisfactorily settled to the Builders' Exchange league.

The trouble has been brewing for two months, since the hoisting engineers prepared a scale. It called for an advance, and an eight-hour day. As it is, an engineer's duty is to have steam up ready to start running by 8 o'clock in the morning, and the engine has to run eight hours, the engineer could claim overtime, making the day last over 10 hours. This the contractors refuse to agree to. They are willing to pay for an eight-hour day, providing the clause is made to read that the engineer will get up steam by 8 o'clock in the morning without extra wages.

Another objectionable clause is in regard to repairing engines. The engineers claim they have no right to repair engines, and, in fact, some of them are not able. The contractors want the right to repair the engines as they see fit. They expect an engineer to repair the engine if he is able. The boilermakers claim the right to repair all boilers. By this the entire work has to be stopped until a boilermaker is sent for, whereas the engineer could make the repairs and have the engine running with little delay.

The trouble first started on the Horne building last week, when the engineers were called out. Then the Building Trades council ordered off all men on the building. Last Saturday the council decided to stop all work of the A. & S. Wilson Company. All men working for the firm, that are affiliated with the council, quit work Monday.

The bricklayers refused to come out on a sympathy strike. The carpenters also took the same stand. The stone masons of the Bricklayers and Masons' international union are taking the places vacated by the independent stone masons, who agreed, by the decision of the arbitration board, to join the B. & M. I. U. Some have lived up to the decision and they are the ones that are taking the place of those who come out on a sympathy strike.

MEN IN PENITENTIARY WHO MAY BE EMPLOYED

Deputy Attorney General Says 35 Per Cent Are Allowed to Work.

Deputy Attorney General F. W. Fleitz yesterday sent a letter to Warden William McC. Johnston of the Western penitentiary, in answer to the latter who recently asked for an opinion regarding what percentage of the inmates of the penitentiary could legally be employed at the various trades permitted in such institutions. Mr. Fleitz quotes in an act of 1897 governing labor conditions in penal institutions, which was amended by the session of 1899. There was some doubt as to the figures named in the bill.

The amended bill reads "that from and after the passage of this act no warden, superintendent or other officer of any state prison, penitentiary or state reformatory, having control of the employment of the inmates of said institutions shall employ more than 35 per centum of the whole number of inmates of said institution in the manufacture of brooms and brushes and hollowware, and 10 per centum in the manufacture of any other kind of goods, wares, articles or things that are manufactured elsewhere in the state, except mats and matting, in the manufacture of which 20 per centum of the whole number of inmates may be employed."

According to the construction of this act put upon it by Mr. Fleitz, 35 per centum of the entire number of inmates may be employed in the occupation named in the act. The law, Mr. Fleitz says, has no application to the manufacture of goods to be used exclusively within the institution or for the maintenance of its inmates.

LAST OF GANG WAS ARRESTED

Police Think They Have All the Robbers Who Have Been Working in Oakland.

MUCH BOOTY WAS RECOVERED

Articles Found That Had Been Stolen from Business Places Adjoining the Police Station—Lots of Evidence for Conviction.

With the arrest of James Henderson, colored, 28 years old, Inspector Milton E. Bailey believes he has the entire gang of robbers who have been operating in the Oakland district for the past few months. Henderson is the third of the gang, Henry and Robert Walker being the other two. Policeman Thomas Kinney and James Noon arrested Henderson yesterday morning after a hard chase.

The police think these are the most important captures made since the Biddle gang was landed in jail. Inspector Bailey and his men worked hard after getting a clue and broke up the gang in a short time.

When Henderson was caught yesterday a box he carried under his arm was found to contain many valuable articles, among them being eight revolvers and various pieces of jewelry and money. In addition to articles found the previous evening there were discovered yesterday a suit of clothes bearing the label of A. K. Lawrie of Chicago, two umbrellas, pocketbooks, butchers' and blacksmiths' tools and the silver ware, valued at $150, which was stolen from the home of Mrs. Annie Ridge of No. 4006 Fifth avenue, last Saturday evening. They expect to recover more goods.

Articles of All Kinds Found.

About $2,000 worth of articles of almost every conceivable kind are on inspection at police station No. 4. Enough butcher knives, cleavers and revolvers were found at the home of the men to equip a small arsenal. Valuable jewelry, hams, tooth brushes and musical instruments all looked alike to the Walkers and Henderson. How much they have been able to dispose of can only be conjectured. Their operations have not been confined wholly to Oakland, although most of the goods will be identified by residents of that section.

A mirror, taken from the store of E. S. Edwards, which is next to the station house, and a ham and a half of a ham, taken from the meat market of George Eisle, opposite the station house, were among the goods recovered last night.

The inspector has sufficient evidence to bring eight indictments against the gang, and as many more are expected. The men have lived in this city for 10 months and have been employed more or less during that time as coachmen. Henderson has served two and one-half years in the penitentiary at Richmond, Va., for burglary.

Identified the Stolen Goods.

Mrs. Ridge identified her silverware, tablecloth and silk umbrella, last night. Not a piece was missing. W. F. Patterson of No. 354 North Craig street called at the police station and identified a revolver which with $40 was stolen from his residence last March, when Henderson worked for him as coachman. Several other residents of that section identified stolen articles.

The jewelry store of Hyman Gold, at No. 3335 Fifth avenue, was robbed at noon yesterday of 40 watches, worth $500. At a late hour last night the officers had no trace of the thief. Gold closed the front door at noon to go to lunch. He left the back door open. During his absence the store was entered and although there was jewelry of all descriptions in the store, the thief confined his attention to watches.

The police are looking for Robert Lamont, who is charged by Thomas Carns with stealing two gold watches from Carns' home on July 22. The watches have been recovered.

A savings bank containing $60 was stolen from the home of E. Dudley, No. 33 Crescent street, late Tuesday night.

The cigar store of W. H. Stanley of No. 6410 Penn avenue was entered yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, and $5 worth of goods taken.

Judge Black of the probate court adjudged the woman insane, and she was removed to Columbus state hospital for the insane, pending the arrival of relatives.

Mrs. Lydecker was on her way to Wyoming, Ohio, to visit her sister, Mrs. Eli Ray, who had advised her to return to New York, where she will be committed to an asylum.

Jersey Mosquito Detests Amateur Cornetist Just as Much as Man.

EFFECT OF DISCORDANT NOTES

Genuine Product Flies Away from Vicinity of Sound and When Higher Tones Are Struck They Fade Away Like Magic.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 29.—"Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast"—even a Jersey mosquito is affected by it. Such in effect is the story of Robert B. Cook, who lives in the worst mosquito-infested district of Jersey City. Cooke is an amateur cornet player with a reputation for veracity. He resides not far from the Hackensack Meadows.

"Professor" Cooke, as the neighbors call him, is conducting a series of experiments to determine the effect of notes of the cornet on the average mosquito of the Jersey swamp. While practicing "The Maiden's Dream" on the cornet a few nights ago he heard a musical buzzing on the screened window of the room where a few minutes before hundreds of the celebrated Jersey product had been trying to effect an entrance.

Cooke was struck with a sudden thought, he ran rapidly over the scale and was surprised at the apparent effect of certain notes. He found that the high, shrill notes dispersed the throng of mosquitoes which fled with shuddering sighs, while sweet and low notes attracted them again. He felt that he was on the eve of a great discovery.

The next day he hied himself to the nearest lair of the genuine blown-in-the-beak Jersey skeeter. The mosquitoes melted away like magic. When his notes ceased again the insects made a sortie. Again he made the Meddows ring—this time with an ear-piercing high B flat. Again the retreat.

Cooke then tried in the truth of the converse of his proposition. He played an attractive F note and was overwhelmed with attentions. A high D and the trills of twin-screw variety retired in confusion, but slowly. A middle A jar brought them with a bold sweep of their wings about him again. A resonant middle C pleased them so well that Cooke had to use the cornet as a weapon and flee, as he had not enough wind left to blow a note that would make them fade away.

FINLANDERS TO FLEE FROM PERSECUTION

Two Thousand Will Come to United States to Escape Russia's Rigorous Laws.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

COPENHAGEN, July 29.—The Scandinavian-American line whose steamers ply between this city and New York have, during the last few days, received several letters from National Finnish societies in Helsingfors and Hangoe, asking if the line could arrange to transport several thousand of Finlanders on special boats. Behind these questions lies the fact that Russia has lately made so many restrictions in the liberty of the Finnish people that thousands have decided to emigrate en masse before the coming of the winter.

The societies who are arranging for this wholesale departure of emigrants were for some time in doubt as to whether they should choose the United States or Canada as the future home for their people and it looked for some time as if Canada would be chosen on account of its similarity in climate to Finland. The majority of the future emigrants, however, stated that they had had enough of monarchies and wanted to enjoy full liberty as only citizens of a republic know it and came out strongly in favor of the United States.

The press here agrees that America is to be congratulated as these people are without exception desirable immigrants, well educated, energetic and peace-loving, whom only adverse circumstances and an inherited love of liberty is driving from their country. It is thought that most of them will settle in Wisconsin.

GRIEF CAUSED DEATH.

Loss of Mother and Daughter Hastens the McKeesport Woman's End.

Grieving over the death of her daughter and mother, both of whom died within the last three months, is believed to have caused the sudden death of Mrs. Mathilda R. Dumm, wife of James M. Dumm, of McKeesport. Mrs. Dumm was found dead at her home, No. 644 Shaw avenue, yesterday morning.

For some time Mrs. Dumm had been a sufferer from heart disease, and it is thought that grief greatly weakened her heart and hastened her end. Mrs. Dumm was born in McKeesport nearly 51 years ago and had been a resident of that city all her life. She was an active member of the First Methodist church and was well known as a church worker. Besides her husband, two sons, W. W. Dumm of Toledo, O., and Dr. Colin M. Dumm of McKeesport, survive.

Vorys, insurance commissioner; W. G. Bowland, treasurer-elect of Franklin county, J. D. Ellison of Columbus, and H. C. Ellison of Cleveland. The party was met by W. S. McKinnon, speaker of the Ohio house of representatives.

Borrowed a Hack and Then Lost It

J. B. Leas of Wayne, Pa., mounted a hack in front of the Duquesne hotel last night and drove off while the driver was absent. Special Officers Robert Denniston and Samuel Free found Leas standing in front of the Griswold hotel bragging of his feat. He was intoxicated and unable to tell the officers what he had done with the hack. Leas was of the opinion that he left the team in Allegheny.

AERONAUTS ENJOINED.

Indignant Farmer Got Tired of Having His Crops Destroyed by Falling Balloon.

OMAHA, NEB., July 29.—(Special.)—A temporary injunction was granted in the court of Judge Dickinson this afternoon that the balloon which ascends twice daily from Courtland beach must not descend on the farm property, destroy crops or frighten the live stock of Claus Nelson. The balloon has fallen many times on Nelson's property.

To recover their airship the aeronauts have been forced to pay lately sums ranging from $2 to $5, and a few days ago, the farmer stood guard over the canvas with a shotgun and demanded $20. The big bag was recovered by a writ of replevin.

Bigamist Now in Jail Has So Many Wives That He Does Not Know Them.

PATERSON, N. J., July 29.—(Special.)—A man who has so many wives that he does not know them all is in jail here. Emanuel Bazoff is his name, and he was arrested on complaint of his wife, Mary, who alleges that he refused to support her and her three children. Through an interpreter Bazoff was informed of the charge against him. He asked who the woman was.

"Why, your wife," said the recorder.

"Which one of them?" said Bazoff. "I've got so many wives that I don't know which one you mean." This was a poser for the judge and Bazoff was sent back to jail.

PENNSYLVANIA GUARDSMEN BATTLED AGAINST IMAGINARY ENEMY

Spectacular Closing of Regimental Drills at Camp McKinley Yesterday.

THEY FOUGHT TO GAIN A HILL

Close Inspection of Troops Was Made by Governor Pennypackffier—The Sixteenth's Competition Drill Starts Today—Other News of Interest.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMP WILLIAM M'KINLEY, July 29.—The headquarters of the commander-in-chief and division commander of the National Guard of Pennsylvania is a scene of much merry-making this evening. The occasion is the presentation of two handsome gifts to Col. William F. Richardson and Mrs. Richardson in recognition of their silver wedding anniversary. The celebration is being made with all due form.

Jointly with a visit by a party of Pittsburgh gentlemen and a hard day's work on inspection it has rendered the camp a busy one all day. Col. Richardson, who is now division quartermaster and keeper of the state arsenal, has served 28 years in the guard and is among the best known members of the organization.

As soon as mess was over at the little camp on the hill, the mess tent was cleared for action. At 8 o'clock Col. and Mrs. Richardson were escorted to the big tent where they found Governor Pennypacker and his staff with Maj. Gen. Miller and his staff, with the brigade and regimental commanders and quartermasters. On behalf of the division, Maj. Gen. Miller presented a huge mahogany chest of silver. Gen. Stewart, on behalf of the governor's staff, presented them a handsome silver loving cup. The band of the Tenth regiment and the glee club of the Fourteenth entered the tent about this time and a reception followed. The patronesses were: Mesdames Stewart, Sweeney, Beitler, Foster, Chambers and Reid. Dancing followed and ended the evening.

Noted Visitors in Camp.

The Pittsburghers who visited division headquarters today and broke bread at the mess were: James McCrea, George T. Oliver, W. H. Keech, W. C. Loree, S. C. Long, E. D. Smith and D. C. Ripley. They were the guests of Colonels Logan, Lindsay and Brown.

Bromley Wharton, private secretary of Gov. Pennypacker, reached camp from Harrisburg this afternoon with a great bunch of official papers demanding the governor's attention. In addition to his other duties of the day he went through the official work.

The inspections today completed the Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Fourteenth and Tenth regiments and partially the Fifth. The rest of the Fifth's work will be viewed tomorrow morning with the troop and battery. Col. Frank Patterson inspected the muster. Col. Sweeney the general appearance, Col. Ripple ceremonies, Major Worman evolutions of the regiment, Major Jefferies extended order, Major Clarke outpost duty and advance and rear guard. Generals Stewart, Miller and Wiley went through the entire work, but no one of the inspectors worked so hard as did the commander-in-chief himself.

The governor walked in front of and behind every company line with an eye sharp to detect the least departure from regulation. Alignment was carefully watched and the whole force given to understand that the inspection by the governor was no sinecure. During the inspection of the Tenth this afternoon a heavy shower passed over the camp and the governor along with the rest was considerably dampened. The work was, however, continued, a poncho protecting the commander-in-chief.

Well Ordered Sham Battle.

Much interest was manifested in the closing drill in each regiment. It was an attack, the point of attack being an imaginary enemy in the wood back of the Highland inn and half a mile from the parade ground. For the attack 23,000 rounds of blank ammunition had been provided. The attacking party was preceded by a guard and the Fourteenth had also a signal corps. The lines swept by the inn firing the blanks while the spectators cheered the sweating troops.

Very little was done at the various camps today except the work connected with the inspections.

An interesting annual event of the Sixteenth regiment starts tomorrow in the competition for the prizes for best-drilled batallions and companies. The batallions will be put through tomorrow and to the best will go a prize of $100. On Friday the best company of each batallion will drill for a silk banner now held by Company B, Captain R. Bruce Gamble. The batter was busy today preparing for tomorrow's inspection. The points will be guards, quarters and the drill of the battery mounted. Colonely Sheldon Potter, chief of ordnance, will conduct the battery inspection.

Captain John Swan Taylor of Johnstown, and former Lieutenant Hoblitzell of the Fifth Pennsylvania volunteers were visitors at the Fifth's camp today.

The report of preliminary plans being made to hold the next encampment of the state guard at St. Louis during the coming world's fair there, was denied today. For the best interests of the guard it is believed the encampment should be held in the state and next year, it can be stated positively, there will be a division camp at Gettysburg unless present plans go to pieces.

Arranged for Rifle Contest.

Colonels LeConte and Echelman left camp today having been called away on urgent business. Colonel Frank K. Fatterson, general inspector of rifle practice, today announced the arrangements for the annual state rifle contest to be held at the state range at Mt. Gretna. The contest will be opened August 24.

A team of four men and one reserve will represent each regiment and troop and the naval reserve. There will be a regimental match, an infantry skirmish match, a brigade match, a cavalry match, a cavalry skirmish match, an inspector of rifle practice match, an officers' revolver match, revolver match for enlisted men and an expert revolver match. The Trexler trophy to be shot for by brigade teams will be open to the division. It is now held by the First brigade.

The meeting of the National Rifle association will be held at Seagirt, N. J., September 2nd. A team of 12 men and three reserves will represent the infantry of the division with a team of six men and one reserve from the division cavalry. The winnink of the Palma trophy by the American team has awakened widespread interest in the national rifle contests.

All the arrangements have been made through L. A. Anshutz, brigade quartermaster, for the return of the troops. The Fifth, Sixteenth and troop break camp Friday afternoon and the Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Tenth and battery follow Saturday morning. Tomorrow will be an important and showy day in camp William McKinley. It is known as governor's day because the governor will review the brigade. Excursions will be run in from all points and several thousand outsiders are expected.

SAY BROKER LAMAR HAD HIS COACHMAN STABBED

Detectives Have Solved the Mystery Surrounding Monk Eastman's Assault.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 29.—Admissions made by "Monk Eastman" and from evidence obtained by his own detectives and statements made to him by Long Branch authorities led Inspector McClusky to unreservedly announce today his belief that David Lamar, a figure in Wall street, hired the prisoners, William Delancy, alias "Monk" Eastman, and Joseph Brown, to assault Lamar's former coachman, James McMahon, at Long Branch on July 4, whereby McMahon was stabbed. Both men were again positively identified today as being two of three men who stopped at the American hotel, in Long Branch at the expense of Lamar.

"Monk's" body bears many scars from knives and pistol shot wounds he has received down where the "Cherry Hill gang" has participated in many feuds. "I will wait a day or two," said the "Monk" to one of inspector McClusky's detectives, "and if Lamar doesn't stand by me I will not go to prison alone. I think he is a four-flusher anyway."

The trouble between Lamar and McMahon started shortly before the assault. McMahon was Lamar's coachman and was discharged because he refused to run after Mrs. Lamar's pet dog. As fight between the broker and coachman followed and the assault on McMahon occurred a few nights later.

TWO GIRLS KILLED.

Run Down by Train on Pennsylvania Railroad While Attending a Picnic.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., July 29.—(Special.)—Beatrice Tate and Marion Clawson were killed this afternoon while at a picnic at Sylvan Dells, a few miles below the city. Walking on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks they got out of the way of a west bound freight train only to be run down by a freight on the east bound track. One girl was cut in two and the other was ground to pieces. Miss Tate is from Chicago and was here on a visit to her grandfather, C. A. Quiggley. They were each 14 years old.

EXPLOSION CAUSES ARRESTS.

Member of Union Is Shot Dead While Running from Mine.

IDAHO SPRINGS, COL., July 29.—An explosion at the Sun and Moon mine wrecked the transformer house. The watchman at the mine, aroused by the explosion, rushed out in time to observe two men running away from the transformer building. He fired at them several times, and later a wounded man was found lying nearby. He died this morning. He has been identified as Philip Fine, a member of the miners' union.

Twenty-two members of the miners' union, including President Howard Tresize, and the other officials have been arrested, charged with conspiracy to blow up the mine. They protest ignorance of a conspiracy and declare that they at all times advised the men to obey the law. They intimate that the destruction of the property was part of a scheme to cast discredit upon the Federation of Miners.

ELEVEN ARRESTS MADE FOR ATTEMPTED LYNCHING

DANVILLE, ILL., July 29.—Eleven arrests were made this afternoon for participation in the lawless outbreak of Saturday night, when the jail was attacked in an effort to lynch James Wilson, a negro, who, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Burgess of Alvin. The grand jury has been ordered to convene on Monday to indict the leaders of the mob. Of those arrested today only one gave bond. A guard has been placed around the hospital where five men, who were members of the mob, are receiving treatment for their wounds.

DAKOTA DIVORCE IS CONTESTED IN LONDON

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 29.—The validity of Dakota divorces in England was again raised today before the president of the divorce court, Sir Francis Jeune, in the suit for divorce brought by D. S. Constandinidi against his wife. The husband charged his wife with bigamously marrying Dr. Lance, the family physician. Mr. Constandinidi obtained a judicial separation from his wife in 1899.

John Lawson Walton, counsel for the petitioner, explained the subsequent proceedings as follows: "This delicately nurtured lady of Belgravia went to a wild district of the earth, emigrated to the half-settled state of Dakota, became an American citizen, stayed six months there, fraudulently obtained a so-called divorce and married the co-respondent there, thus using the lax Dakota laws for her own purpose.

"This," continued Mr. Walton, "was fraud on civilized jurisprudence." The jury found the respondent and co-respondent guilty of adultery, awarded $125,000 damages against Dr. Lance and also found the petitioner guilty of the counter charge of adultery. His petition, therefore, was dismissed and argument on the points of law involved was postponed until tomorrow.

FIGHT AGAINST CHARTERS.

Pittsburgh Railways Company's Attorney Makes Argument at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, July 29.—(Special.)—The quo warranto proceedings instituted by the Pittsburgh Railways Company before Attorney General Carson to revoke the charters of the Iron City and the Bankers Street Railway companies of Pittsburgh, were argued in private before that official this afternoon by William C. Farnsworth of this city for the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and John S. Wendt of Pittsburgh for the new companies.

The argument was the same as that at the time of the hearing of the objections filed by the Pittsburgh Railways Company last winter with Gov. Pennypacker to the applications of the new companies for charters. It is expected the attorney general will allow the writs to issue in order that proceedings may be brought in the courts to determine certain questions of fact and law involved.

JULES VERNE'S DREAM IS REALIZED AT LAST

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWPORT, R. I., July 29.—The submarine torpedo boat Protector, now at the United States torpedo station, was the center of naval interest here today. A party of officers was shown through the craft this morning. Among other things the diving compartment was operated and the bottom door opened. One of the crew then undressed and passed out and came to the surface. The exhibition exemplified the method of escape provided in case of total disablement.

In the afternoon accompanied by one of the station launches full of spectators, the Protector ran up to Coddington Cove, the official torpedo practice ground, and gave a very complete display of the boat's ability to run evenly at any desired degree of submergence. At one time the vessel was down 48 feet. Her emergence is deliberate and under perfect control. A number of officers were then given a submerged run.

The total time of submergence this time was an hour and three quarters, and an hour and 15 minutes was spent resting on the bottom, during which time the officers of the boat and their guests and the crew had luncheon, cooked while submerged. Meanwhile a stiff gale kicked up a considerable sea. Captain Lake took her outside the harbor, where the short, quick running deep seas gave opportunity to show the seaworthiness of the craft.

ANXIOUS TO SHAVE HIM BECAUSE HE CAN'T KICK

Undertakers and Barbers Quarrel as to Who Shall Remove Whiskers from the Dead.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 29.—Who shall have the last shave? Shall it be the undertaker, with the kid gloves and professional, subdued sympathy, or the barber who knows nothing more tender and less matter-of-fact than the edge of his razor?

Local barbers claim the right. They sent a letter today to that effect to the secretary of the National Undertakers' association. Undertakers answer that they know better how to shave a dead man.

"Special training is required to perform the work," said a prominent local undertaker today. "When a barber is called in he frequently gets so nervous that he cuts the face. A cut on a dead man is doubly fatal. It leaves a brown mark that cannot be removed."

"Barbers always have had the privilege of shaving the dead," said Henry Davis, who has just resigned as executive secretary of the Boss Barbers' union. "You have to shave 50 live men to equal one dead man in price. It is expensive, but the barber never employs the razor and mug so used again."

Made a 102,000-Pound Casting.

ANARCHY'S RULE CAN ONLY RESULT

Emphatic Argument Against Lynching by Gov. Durbin of Indiana.

LYNCHERS NOT GOOD CITIZENS

Summary Proceeding Not Justified by Delay of the Law, and Sheriff and Militia Are Patriots When They Defend Criminal Against Mob.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, July 29.

Following are excerpts from an article in this week's Independent, written by Governor Winfield T. Durbin of Indiana. The governor's recent energetic action during the recent turbulent times in Indiana has brought him into wide public notice. In his article the governor says:

"The method of extenuation adopted by a few public and many private apologists for lynch law have become familiar. The awfulness of the crime and the outraged sense of justice it arouses are pictured in palliation. But the essential issue raised by the rioters is not between the mob and its victim or his crime, but between the mob and the law. The law is as much outraged by a lynching based on a heinous crime, as by a lynching without provocation.

"There are instances without number in which the mob spirit, once aroused, has led to the pursuit of objects entirely foreign to that which brought it into being. The sweep of the mob spirit through a community is like the rush of water through a sewer. It collects and tosses into the flood all that is vilest in its pathway and before the course of the current is run the filth is on the surface.

"The delays of the courts and the discrimination of officials in the execution of the law, is often assigned as an explanation, if not in palliation, of the mob spirit. By whom are judicial and executive officers chosen? By whom are the delays of the law deliberately decreed? They are in large part the safeguards reared by the people themselves for their own protection against summary procedure. What member of an American mob, charged with crime, would look upon these safeguards otherwise than as essential accompaniments of free government?

"Let us place against these apologies for mob rule a few essential and well-established principles. No government can endure with the court and the mob seeking to exercise identical functions. Either the supremacy of the law must be established beyond question or free rein must be given to the fury of riotous assemblages engaged in trampling all law into the dust. Anarchy and constitutional government may not thrive within the same geographical limits. If guilty men are to be hanged or burned by "good citizens" today under the summary procedure of brute force, then innocent men may be hanged or burned tomorrow by bad citizens operating under the same warrant.

"The sheriff and his deputies who employ the rifle and the shotgun in defense of a prisoner whom the mob seeks to murder, the militiamen who co-operate with them in the law's behalf, are as much soldiers in the cause of liberty as any patriot who fought at Bunker Hill or Kings Mountain, and those officials sworn to the execution of the laws who yield to the mob spirit in such an emergency are guilty of as base poltroonery as the sorriest coward who ever fled from a battlefield." FRANK A. PARKER.

PACKETS KEPT FROM HARBOR

First Time Since the Middle of June That Steamers Fail to Get In.

For the first time since the middle of June the Cincinnati packets yesterday were prevented from reaching Pittsburgh. The Queen City was forced to tie up at Sewickley and send her trip to the city by rail. The Florence Bell took a large number of passengers to her yesterday afternoon from the Cincinnati wharfboat, leaving at the usual hour, 4 o'clock. The Bessie Smith is due to arrive from Parkersburg early this morning in place of the Ben Hur, which was not sent up on account of the scarcity of water. It is not probable that she will be able to reach the harbor. The Lorena from Zanesville and the Greenwood from Charleston are due to arrive tonight. These packets will probably tie up at Sewickley and transfer their trips to lighter packets or send them in by rail.

The pools of the Monongahela river are not filling as fast as anticipated. The splash boards are up, but little water is coming into the rivers from the small streams, which are unusually low for this season. The rains of yesterday may help some, and rivermen hope for heavy rains soon.

PENN CITIZENS APPEAL TO STATE FOR RELIEF

Portion of Emergency Appropriation Asked For—Disease Follows in Wake of Flood.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., July 29.—As a result of the hot weather of the last few days, general alarm is felt in the Brush Creek valley because of the probability of a serious contagion. Although big forces of men have been at work since the flood of July 5, in removing the debris, two of the towns along the course of the streams are far from being in good sanitary condition. At West Jeannette and Penn, sewers are still clogged and the water tables are in places filled with filth.

The relief funds have been entirely exhausted at Penn and this morning James L. Kennedy, secretary of the relief committee, forwarded a petition to Benjamin F. Lee of Philadelphia, secretary of the state board of health. The petition was signed by hundreds of Penn residents and the board is asked to forward a portion of the $50,000 appropriation granted by the last legislature for emergency purposes.

The petition recites that a crisis has been reached at Penn, and that unless state aid is secured a dangerous contagion will break out. There are three cases of typhoid fever at Penn. Many of the cellars in the storm-filled valley are still filled with their debris and the occupants of the houses are in constant danger of disease. Jeannette is worried over a case of virulent smallpox. The patient is Mrs. Eliza Richardson. She recently returned from Pittsburgh.

WATER ROSE THREE FEET IN AN HOUR

Flood at Pottsville—Three Engines Required to Pull Flyer Into Town.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

POTTSVILLE, PA., July 29.—The worst flood ever known in this section prevails tonight. The water is above the fire box of the electric light plant, and the town is in darkness. Several houses were struck by lightning during the terrific bombardment of the storm.

Streams of water rose three feet in one hour. The Philadelphia & Reading passenger station was surrounded by the flood, and passengers arriving on incoming trains were compelled to remain in the station. It took three locomotives to pull the Pennsylvania railroad "flyer" from Philadelphia into the town, so great was the power necessary to plow through the water.

The terrific force of the waters tore a hole 20 feet in circumference and 18 feet deep directly in the threshold of the home of Martin Eichorn, at Sixth and Minersville streets. The frightened occupants of the house escaped through the flood to the homes of neighbors.

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

OUR semi-annual bed and bedding sale comes into the light of public interest today. This sale is all due to advantageous purchases made of manufacturers' stocks which are being periodically adjusted at this time. The manufacturer's business is at all times methodical, system is inexorable—and it exacts many sacrifices. If the maker's stocks are not in apple-pie order (due to non-receipt of re-orders, erstwhile market conditions and other circumstances over which he has no control) he is forced to sell his surplus stock for what he can get. The values we quote for this sale are strong indicators of the 20 to 40 per cent conditions under which we bought for this sale. Read on—you will encounter facts that are strange and welcome news to the economist; you'll find the way to possession of beds and bedding that you thought beyond your reach.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., July 29.—For the ninth time this season, on the home grounds, the champions from Smoketown took the Reds into camp today. After their victory of yesterday it was hoped that another would be scored today, but the game had gone but a few minutes when it was evident that the visitors had no intention of giving up the ghost without a hard struggle.

Old Bill Kennedy, who in years gone by was pitching ball in the big league, was on the rubber for the visitors, and the fact that he is a veteran of many years seems to have strengthened his arm, and he pitched a better game today than he ever has on the local lot. Bill was at his best. He had good control and last, but not least, a change of pace which was puzzling. In all but one inning Bill had the locals at his mercy.

Jack Harper did the twirling for the Reds and Jack was unlucky in that most of the hits made off him at critical stages were of the fluke variety. Time and time again the batsmen would swing at the ball, barely touch it with his bat, and see it fall safe between fields. Harper was not as wild as usual, but he could not prevent a bunching of hits, and that accounts for his defeat.

The Reds had an uphill fight on their hands right from the outset, the visitors scoring three runs in the opening inning, a lead which was never overcome. Because the field was wet, and even muddy in spots, it was thought wise to let the visitors take the field first. This resulted in the Reds being fetired in order. With the Pirates it was different. The first two men to face Harper were easy outs.

Then Wagner drew a pass. He and Bransfield worked the hit and run game to perfection, for when Wagner started to steal Kelley started for the bag and Bransfield pushed the ball through Kelley's position. Before Wagner reached third. With Leach up, Bransfield started for second and this time Corcoran started to cover the bag. Leach took his through his territory, Wagner scoring and Bransfield going to third. Leach stole and Ritchey brought both men home with a clean hit to left field.

A pass to Donlin, an out and Dolan's hit gave the Reds their first run in the third inning. But the visitors were not through and in their half of the inning three of the runs. Beaumont walked as a starter, and an out put him on second. Then Wagner, Bransfield and Leach made successive singles and two runs were scored. Leach stole and scored on the fusillade. In the fourth Kennedy's hit, after two were out, and errors by Kelley, Corcoran and Donlin, netted a run.

In the fifth a bit of rallied for a few minutes and a double and two singles gave them two runs. Three successive hits in the seventh gave the champions their last run, and the Reds were through scoring long before that. The score:

NEW YORK, July 29.—New York won the final game of the present series from Boston today, the score being 5 to 2. Both pitchers were effective, but errors in the field and Mackey's willness at times proved costly for the visitors. The fielding of Babb was a feature. Score:

NEW CASTLE'S VICTORY.

Two Ugly Accidents Marred the Game Yesterday.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 29.—(Special.)—The local United States Steel team defeated Alliance here today in an interesting contest. In the either inning Catcher Reed was struck in the throat with a foul tip and was forced to retire from the game. Kossuch was struck in the same inning by a pitched ball over the heart. WANTS SALARIED COACHES.

The Yale Weekly Speaks Plainly on the Question.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., July 29.—(Special.)—In answer to the continued discussion and some criticism of professional coaches for college athletic teams, the Yale Alumni Weekly today in part says editorially:

"If in the next 50 years America develops a leisure class so large that a university like Yale can always find men of ability in baseball or rowing or football, who have graduated from this institution, and who have inherited a large fortune, it is possible that the university will use exclusive amateur coaches; but we would be slow to predict that the result of that coaching would be any better in its effect on the character of the men coached or of the institution which they represent than under a system where that coaching is paid for by a regular salary instead of by income from inherited wealth."

TWO MATCHES PLAYED.

Wrenn and Mahoney Are Tied for Honors.

NAHANT, MASS., July 29.—Two matches were played in the limitation tennis tournament at the Nahant club courts today. In the morning a match in the first round between K. Horton and R. Huntington was won by the former, 6—8, 7—6.

In the afternoon R. D. Wreen and H. S. Mahoney played two sets in the third round and were tied at 7-all in the third, when a storm broke and the remainder of the match was put off until tomorrow morning. Mahoney was not in his usual form in the first set, and Wrenn's accurate placing won with comparative ease, 6—0. In the second set Mahoney took a brace and by excellent playing took the set, 6—4.

TITUS ENTERS THE CANADIAN HENLEY

TORONTO, ONT., July 29.—The entry of Titus for senior singles at the Canadian Henley regatta at St. Catharines was received by the secretary today. As report had it that the Atlantic Boat club would refuse permission to Titus to row, the receipt of his entry gives pleasure to Canadians. Despite rumors to the contrary Scholes will row at both St. Catharines and Worcester.

Altoona Meets Homestead.

The Altoona team will meet the H. L. A. C.'s at Steel Works park this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon, and Pittsburgh being away and the fact that the visiting team contains many old local favorites is sure to draw a big crowd to the steel town. The Altoona team has already succeeded in winning four games out of six from the H. L. A. C.'s, but five of these games were played in Altoona, and Manager Fisher hopes to even up on this series. Washer will pitch for the H. L. A. C.'s this afternoon and Osborne, Risher's new find, tomorrow.

Lively Meeting of County League.

A lively meeting of the County league was held last night and all kinds of trouble was threatened, but the cool head of the president prevented any outbreak. The cause of the trouble was a dispute among managers over protested games. The league is in a flourishing condition. All managers report large attendances.

Weisser Goes to Wheeling.

Catcher Weisser of Dravosburg has joined the Wheeling club of the Central league and will be tried out at shortstop by that team.

STRETCHED THE SAILS.

Shamrocks Did Not Race—Sir Thomas Lipton Given Admiral's Salute.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 29.—Shamrock III. had only a sail-stretching trial today. After a 12-mile run the yachts ran back to the hook, while some changes were made in the Challenger. Later a half hour's spin was taken.

On his way up New York harbor later Sir Thomas was for the first time officially recognized as equal in rank to an admiral. When the Erin passed the New York city police boat patrol the latter ran the Shamrock, Sir Thomas' private flag to her fore and saluted Sir Thomas with 13 guns, an admiral's salute.

Sir Thomas Lipton said today that there was no truth whatever in the report that an exchange of captains of the two Shamrocks to place Capt. Berles of Shamrock II. in command of the challenger was contemplated. Sir Thomas also said today that he had heard nothing as to any race between the Columbia and Shamrock II.

CAN'T SUPPLY DEMAND.

Government Aiding Siberian Farmers to Get American Machinery.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(Special.)—American farm machinery is in such demand in Siberia that dealers are unable to supply that market and the ministry of agriculture has established a central warehouse, where it will assist American manufacturers in distributing their goods. In a report B. T. Greener, United States commercial agent at Vladivostock, gives the department of commerce and labor a description of the government machinery warehouse.

The warehouse is at Habarofak and is designed especially to assist American manufacturers. The management is anxious to obtain the addresses of firms dealing in and manufacturing agricultural machinery, the prices and catalogues of such firms and lists of steamships plying between the United States and Vladivostock. Mr. Greener emphasizes the necessity for catalogues and price lists printed in Russian and urges that agents be sent to Siberia who speak Russian.

FOOLHARDY BOY KILLED.

While Playing With a Belt He Was Crushed to Death by Shafting.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Special.)—Jumping up, catching a revolving belt, then riding into the air 10 or 15 feet until near the shafting, was the game played today by several boys in the shoe factory of Hanan & Sons of Brooklyn. The game ended in the crushing to death of Charles Wirth, 15 years old.

He made one successful trip and other boys followed his example. On his second attempt, Wirth made a miscalculation as to the time to jump and his clothing was caught in the shafting. Before assistance arrived he was crushed to death.

OCEAN CLAIMS TWO MORE VICTIMS

HE DIED TRYING TO SAVE HER

Made Heroic Effort to Rescue a Miss Shannon of Williamsport Who Got Beyond Her Depth—Big Wave Caused Both to Drown.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 29.

A double drowning occurred late this afternoon in which a prominent physician lost his life in an heroic attempt to save the lady companion with whom he had been in bathing. As it was his attempt was futile and both met their death.

The man is Joseph Melvin, aged 37 years, an osteopathist of Carbondale, Pa. His companion was Merrill Shannon of Williamsport, a pretty young girl of 20 years. There were several thousand people on the beach and boardwalk when the drownings occurred.

The couple had gone in the water at the foot of St. Charles place and were bathing near the jetty, which extends quite a distance into the ocean. The recent storms and the building of this breakwater changed the currents near the jetty and there is a deep hole just north of the breakwater. Miss Shannon was bathing near this spot and accidentally got into the cross currents and the deeper water. The sea was very rough today and none of the lifeboats were out, the guards contenting themselves with watching the bathers from the shore.

Miss Shannon was heard to call for help. Dr. Melvin started for her and managed to reach her. He found the task too difficult, however, and was unable to keep his companion afloat. He shouted for help.

Dr. Melvin was making a gallant struggle to save Miss Shannon and his strength was fast giving away keeping himself and companion above water. As the guard drew near an exceptionally big wave that had formed out beyond the jetty came with great speed and force toward them and broke directly over their heads. The force of the water was sufficient to render them unconscious. That was the last ever seen of Miss Shannon. She went down and did not come to the surface again.

Dr. Melvin came to the surface, the life guard grabbed him and brought him ashore. He was alive when the guards started to resuscitate him, but he died about ten minutes later.

Among those who were in the vast throng on the beach was an elderly lady. She was in company with some friends and hearing some one had been drowned, pushed her way in among the people until she stood beside the body. The old lady was the man's mother, Mrs. John Klune of Carbondale. The scene as she recognized in the dead man her son was pathetic.

Dr. Melvin was a brother of Mrs. J. Rothwell, wife of the manager of the Steel pier. He was well-known and liked at the Hotel Southern, where he and his brother and sister have been guests since the early part of the season. But little is known at the Hotel Southern of Miss Shannon. She came here two weeks ago from her home in Williamsport. She was quite good looking and was said to be 20 years of age. This afternoon she told the young lady with whom she rooms that she was going bathing, mentioning an engagement she had made.

It is not known for a certainty that the appointment was with Dr. Melvin, although there are those at the hotel state they had gone bathing together before. For a time no one knew who his companion was that had been drowned. Finally one of the girls went to Miss Shannon's room and found her street clothes hung up on the wall and her bathing suit gone.

Her statement that she had an engagement to go bathing was recalled and as she had not returned to him for dinner that evening the management of the hotel and Miss Shannon's friends were forced to the conclusion that she lost her life with Dr. Melvin. Every effort was made to locate her body but without success.

Schwab Did Not Arrive.

Charles M. Schwab did not reach Atlantic City today as was expected. His family is here and he will probably be here in the morning. He will probably reside at one of the beach front hotels as an offer which he made to Clarence M. Busch of $1,500 for the use of his cottage during August has been declined. This is the cottage Mr. Schwab occupied last year.

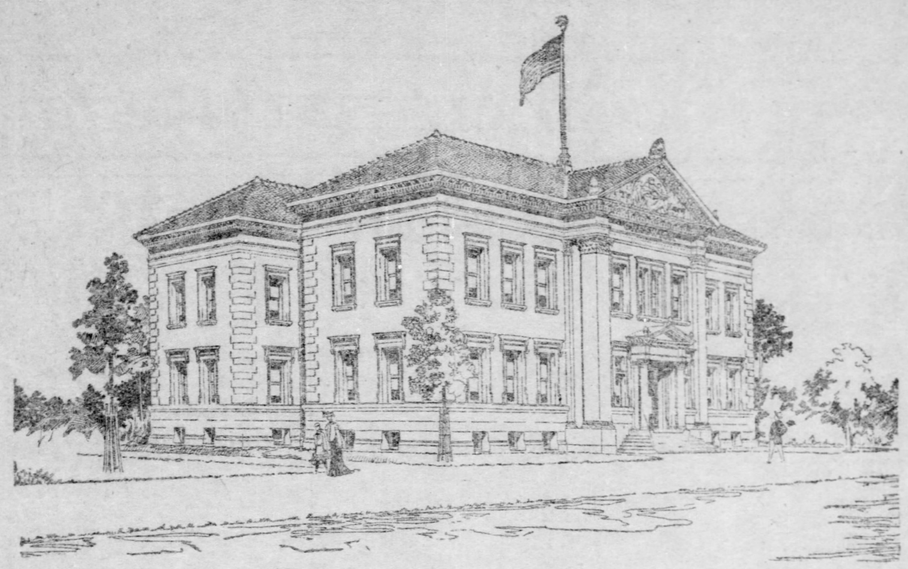
FINE NEW SCHOOLHOUSE TO BE ERECTED FOR SCHOLARS OF CHESWICK, W. P. R. R.



Structure Will Cost $35,000 and Will Be One of the Best in the Allegheny Valley.

Cheswick, on the West Penn railroad, is classically inclined, not only in providing for its young people a thorough high school education, but in giving them a school building which will be a model of classic school architecture. On a beautiful spot overlooking the Allegheny river there will be built from plans by Architect F. C. Sauer of this city, a five-room school house to cost $35,000. The accompanying cut shows a building of white vitrified brick, with glazed terra cotta trimmings, moss green in color, and a vitrified tile roof. A novel feature of the building will be the terra cotta frontispiece over the entrance—a life size Indian of the last century looking down the valley dotted with its busy workshops and comfortable homes. Following are the members of the school board: The Rev. Isaiah Ravenaugh, president; A. A. Armstrong, secretary; J. R. Kennedy, S. M. Armstrong, John R. Morris and W. H. Pillow.

SURPRISED HER MANY FRIENDS

Widow of Cushman Davis Marries Again After a Short Courtship.

BRIDEGROOM IS HUNTER DOLL

Not Even the Bride's Family Was Notified of the Pending Nuptials—She Is Quite a Woman of Affairs and Figured in Politics Once.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.

To the surprise of all her friends, Mrs. Anna Agnew Davis, the widow of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota, who for many years was chairman of the committee on foreign relations and was at the head of the peace commission which negotiated at Paris the treaty of peace with Spain, was married today. The bridegroom is Hunter Doll of Knoxville, Tenn., who is not well known here, but is said to be a man of affairs, of good family and the owner of a country seat in Virginia. The acquaintance of the bride with Mr. Doll has only covered three months.

The wedding took place at the Davis house, No. 1634 S street, and was witnessed by a small party of personal friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Dunlop of St. John's Episcopal church. When Mr. Davis was in the senate, Mrs. Davis was quite as much a figure as was her distinguished husband. She was the second wife of Senator Davis and the fend between her and the wife of Gov. Merriam of Minnesota, which ended by Mrs. Davis keeping Gov. Merriam out of the cabinet of President McKinley in 1897, is well remembered.

Mrs. Davis was a lavish entertainer in Washington, while her husband was the chairman of the committee on foreign relations. She is regarded as a handsome woman, and is descended from an old Scotch family which claims allegiance to the Malcolm clan.

After a short trip to Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Doll will go to St. Paul where they will build an apartment house on a central city block which Mrs. Davis owns.

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 29.—Mrs. Davis' relatives in St. Paul knew nothing of her marriage to Mr. Doll until notified by a reporter. They were wholly unaware that she contemplated marriage and are not acquainted with Mr. Doll. Her sister, Mrs. Paul Knaack, expressed great surprise upon hearing the news.

NEXT WEEK'S AMUSEMENTS.

Two of the Theaters Open for the Season and Summer Bills Are Still Strong.

Next Monday the Bijou theater will reopen for its 1903-4 season with flying colors. Patrons of the popular house will be greeted by the traditional minstrel show, and a good one it is, too, for the William H. West minstrels will hold forth. The settings for the show are said to be very beautiful, everything being new. Many new songs will be introduced and a book full of up-to-date jokes will be sprung on the first-week audiences. With new decorations in the theater, a brilliantly set stage and the brightness that always pervades the opening shows at a big theater the Bijou should be a popular next week. The box office will open this morning.

Harry Williams' Academy will also open for the season next Monday, and the Bon-Ton Burlesquers, as has been the rule for the last half-dozen seasons, will be the opening attraction this season. Monday matinees is something new this year, while another new rule will be the reserving of the entire lower floor. The opening attraction is one of the very best on the road and is sure to please the people who fill this house. Manager Alex. Gorman's two new burlettas and a high-class olio should start the Academy out with the success that it met with last season.

Gilbert and Sullivan's famous light opera, "The Mikado," will be the attraction at Duquesne garden all next week, commencing Monday night, with the usual Saturday matinee. "The Mikado" has been played perhaps by more people than any opera in America. The book is a satire of the government of Japan and the dialogue is bright from start to finish. The music is tuneful and has many familiar airs. The cast will be made up of Mary Carrington, Ethel Balch, Margaret Robinson, Harry Davies, Jack Raffael, John J. Martin, William Carlisle, Josephine Bartlett, Fin Reynolds, Myrtle Arndt and others. Shirtwaist parties savoring of all that is informal and comfortable in entertaining are popular at the garden now. A number were given last week.

Beginning with Sunday, next week will be a big one in the traction parks, for the Sunday bills will include Arthur Lloyd and Bandmann, a large number of special features, and the weekly bill at Kennywood will include band concerts, with special features, while a big minstrel show will hold forth at Calhoun and southern will have vaudeville.

Next Sunday will be the second Sunday since the commencement of the Knights of Pythias encampment at Calhoun and the program will be a big elaborate. On the afternoon Bryant and Saville's minstrels will be back again, with new songs, dialogues and jokes. In the evening the big Jubilee band of the Williams minstrels will be added to this, which this insures a first-class concert. In the afternoon a double balloon ascension—some nifty stirely new—will be made. Arthur Lloyd and Gertrude St. Claire will make the ascension together, and will take a dog and monkey high in air. These will be released separately, before the balloonists themselves begin their descent, so that it will be a race between the two people and the animals as to which reaches the earth first. The evening ascension will be made by Gertrude St. Claire alone, and she will give a fireworks display when high in air. The Knights of Pythias will have special exercises on Sunday at camp. The weekly bill at Calhoun will be the Bryant & Saville minstrels.

Kennywood will have band concerts afternoon and evening on Sunday. Many new ideas have been incorporated within the bounds of the steeplechase building, including new mysteries and illusions, while there will be a number of special features in connection with the band concerts.

Oakwood's Sunday bill will include the Braddock Lilliputian band, W. L. Mayer, director; Cooke and Hayes, comedians, and Alice Philbrooks, the singer.

At Southern park the Knights of Pythias band will hold forth two programs of bright music being arranged for the occasion. Cooke and Oakes, the eccentric comedians; Harry Burgoyne, the coster singer, and the Howards, a team of good entertainers, are among the special features. The Sunday bill will hold for all week, with the addition of a number of new features.

HARRISBURG, July 29.—A petition was filed with Attorney General Carson today asking for a writ of quo warranto to restrain the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern Railroad Company's officers from issuing stock and from extravagant use of the company's funds. The matter will be argued on September 8.

It was the annual Scotch celebration, and was under the combined auspices of the Scottish clans of Pittsburgh, Allegheny, McDonald, Carnegie, Homestead, McKeesport, Roscoe and a few other places. SOCIETY

GEORGIAN BAY seems to be the favorite resort for Pittsburgh's fishing clubs. Monday next the Iron City Fishing club leaves for its reservation, the Yankanuck club goes to Yankanuck Island two days later, and tomorrow will witness the departure of the Duquesne Fishing club, of which many prominent Pittsburgh men are members. The Duquesne club varies from the other two in that no ladies will be in the party. A special section attached to the Buffalo night express on the Allegheny Valley will convey the members to Penetang, where they will be met by their steamer, the Jubilee. A trip of 50 miles is necessary to reach Jubilee island, on which the club camps. This island is the home of the club members during their stay in Canada, although most of the time is usually spent in small boats.

The party is composed of the following men: the Hon. John S. Weller, the Hon. William Flinn, the Hon. George M. Hosack, J. P. Hunter, L. L. Davis, F. W. Edwards, Joseph G. Armstrong, Frank P. Booth, C. H. Pirring, W. W. Murray, Thomas G. McClure, William Lyons, Archibald Machrell, Henry Meyers, Dr. A. J. Harchfield, T. C. Atkinson, F. C. Klumpp, W. D. Grimes, William Bell, Robert Gstermaier, William McClure and John Lewis. W. S. Brown, the president of the club, will not accompany the other members on this year's outing, as he goes with the Yankanuck club on Monday. The Duquesne Fishing club returns to the city Sunday evening, August 16.

For Two House Guests.

The card party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. William H. Cooper of Oakmont, although informal, was one of the most delightful little affairs of the last few weeks. Miss Gertrude Bettes, a teacher in the Warren schools and a sister of Mrs. Cooper, was the chief honor guest. The honors were shared by Miss Alice Cooper, a sister of Dr. Cooper, who with Miss Bettes, has been the house guest of her brother and his wife for some time. Mrs. Cooper's dainty little prizes went to Miss Maud Hunter, Mrs. Harry Budd and Mrs. Thomas Hunter. There were no decorations and the three tables at which six-hand euchre was played were placed on the veranda of the Cooper home.

Going Abroad.

Mrs. Thomas W. Fitch of Clyde street, Shadyside, with her daughters, Miss Mary Sherman Fitch and Mrs. Thomas W. Fitch, jr., left Pittsburgh yesterday for New York, from which port they will sail today on the French liner, Bretagne. Havre will be their first stopping place, where they will be the guests of Lieut. A. M. Thackara, American consul at Havre. The two married ladies will return to this country in September. Miss Fitch, going from Havre to Switzerland to join her aunt, Miss Sherman, who has been in Europe for some time past.

Judge John D. Shafer granted judgment of ouster on the commonwealth's demurrer in the proceedings to oust Charles J. Pedder from the office of school director of the Luckey sub-district. Peddar was elected by the board to fill a vacancy, and the questions at issue were the right of three members to elect and whether a member so elected continued in office after the date of the annual meeting of the board.

The Oakmont House Party.

Members of the Oakmont house party, a group of young people from Oakmont, who are camping near Harmarville, entertained a number of their friends at an indoor picnic yesterday. About 20 invited guests were present and the little Kuntz cottage, situated on one of the most picturesque hillsides of the Allegheny valley, was the scene of much merriment. The house party consists of Miss Lottie and Miss Clara Marriff, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss Pleasance Baker, Miss Grace Hunter and Miss Margaret Glass, Howard Nicholson, John Moyer, George Hamilton, Alec Nimick and Thomas Gillespie. Mrs. J. C. Glass, until yesterday, was chaperone of the party, but it is now in charge of Miss Florence Crosby and Miss Marion Hunter. Mrs. Glass will resume her duties as chaperone the latter part of the week. The cottage which at present is the home of these young folks is a quaint little four-roomed building with porches on two sides and expansive lawns surrounding. Everything has been arranged in the most comfortable and convenient manner for the boys and girls. Tents have been erected on the lawn, a bathing beach prepared and every other required feature of a summer resort secured. Boats have been placed at the disposal of the party and all pronounce themselves well satisfied with a mountain home as the air is exceedingly cool and pleasant. The camp was visited on Tuesday evening by a number of Oakmont residents, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Lockrey, Miss Marion Hunter, Alan Hill and George and Arthur Nicholson.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES AMONG STRANGERS

Members of the Wilkinsburg G. A. R. have shipped the remains of William J. Parsons, a veteran of the civil war, to Cambridge, O., where he is said to have relatives. Parsons was 78 years old and his death occurred on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. E. E. Shaffer, No. 718 Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg. It is said Parsons went to Wilkinsburg from New York a year ago to enter one of the homes for aged people, but was refused admission. When his small savings were gone he was taken into the Shaffer home and given shelter till his relatives could be communicated with. Parsons is reported to be the father-in-law of C. W. Ryan, a captain in the United States navy. Before his death he asked that his remains be interred beside his wife at Cambridge.

ODD CONSPIRACY WAS UNEARTHED

Tramps Were Enticed to Near Trenton Where They Were Arrested by Syndicate.

RAILROAD MEN IMPLICATED

County Treasurer Alleged to Have Been Victimized by the Prize Tramp Catcher and His Confederates—One Tramp Shot Yesterday.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TRENTON, N. J., July 29.—By the shooting today at the coal chutes, of a negro, by two deputy detectives in the employ of Dennis Frawley, the Pennsylvania railroad prize tramp catcher, there was uncovered what appeared to be a systematic plan to entice hoboes to this section to the end that they may be arrested for the fees that such captures will produce from the treasury of the county.

It is said that railroad trainmen are implicated to the extent of promising tramps free transportation and then putting them off the cars as soon as Frawley's jurisdiction is reached, and that county officials, from justices of the peace up to Frawley, profit by the commitment of the trespassers to jail, where they must be lodged and boarded at public expense. The board of freeholders will order a thorough investigation.

The negro shot today was George Brown of Harrisburg. He has been working in the neighborhood and is regarded as an industrious man. He is now at St. Francis hospital suffering severely from a dangerous wound in the thigh. The shot was fired by Charles Kiser, 20 years old of Passaic, who, with Louis Mason of the same city, have been working for Frawley for a month. They were first laborers on his farm and later deputy tramp catchers. Kiser admits firing twice at Brown, but says he only shot to make him stop running. The two men are held to await the result of the negro's wound.

The youths tell of how they caught 90 tramps in one week, chaining them in bunches to telegraph poles, when the day's haul would be taken to the committing justice's office. Frawley paid them $4 a week, and kept the fees for himself.

SHOWED CASH TO PROVE HE HAD BEEN BRIBED

Stormy Scenes in Hungarian Diet—Members Prevented Premier from Speaking.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, July 29.—Deputy Zolman Papp caused a sensation in the lower house of the diet today by spreading out on the table 10,000 kronen in cash, which, he declared, had been tendered him as a bribe to desert his fellow obstructionists and leave Budapest. Herr Papp, who is a member of the Kossuth party, added that it was former Deputy Dienes who attempted to bribe him. A parliamentary committee was appointed to investigate the matter.

There were stormy scenes in the diet this afternoon when the premier, Count Hedervary, rose to commence the debate on the indemnity bill. The obstructionists stood up and the chamber resounded with deafening noise, the banging of desk lids and insults hurled at the premier from the opposition benches. The sitting was suspended, but the scenes were repeated on its resumption and, ultimately, being unable to obtain a hearing the premier handed the clerk of the house a written motion, moving the reading of the bill.

When the obstructionists became aware of this action a couple of members of the Kossuth party stormed the presidential tribune, snatched the paper from the clerk's hands, and tore it to pieces. The tribune was soon filled with shouting deputies, and amidst the tumult the session was again suspended.

It is said that two duels have been arranged between deputies as an outcome of the scenes in the diet.

FILIPINOS GIVEN JOBS OF AMERICANS

Philippine Commission Cheapen Expenditures by General Retrenchment.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, July 29.—The United States Philippine commission has been conducting a lengthy and detailed examination of the heads of the various departments of the government, forcing on them a general policy of retrenchment. The commissioners have investigated the estimates, cut down items, substituted Filipinos in subordinate positions formerly assigned to Americans and have impressed upon the heads that they must follow the McKinley policy of the elevation of the Filipinos.

As a result of the commission's action it is estimated that the budget for the half year will be reduced from $3,295,408 to $1,216,135 for the insular departments and for the city of Manila from $1,407,084 to $969,015, exclusive of permanent improvements which will be made a separate charge.

Lieutenant Rucker of St. Louis has been found guilty of embezzlement and sentenced to dismissal.

LEAVING THE SOUTH.

Big Negro Organization Aiding Members of Race to Come to Northern States.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Special.)—The Order of St. Luke, a negro society of great strength and wealth in this and other northern states, is secretly aiding southern negroes to remove to northern states and Canada. Employment agencies operated by the society will shortly be opened at New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and other places in this country and Canada. Branches will be located in prominent southern cities, where the negroes will register and furnish references.

Those availing themselves of the aid of the society will be taxed to help others to follow. All classes will be brought as opportunity presents. Wholesale lynchings in the south and peonage laws and customs are said to be the cause for the movement.

POPULISTS TO HOLD NATIONAL CONVENTION

DENVER, July 29.—The national executive committee of the United Peoples party met today. It was resolved that the nominating convention should be held early in 1904, before the national conventions of the Republicans or Democrats. A committee was appointed, of which J. A. Edgerton is chairman, to organize the reform parties in every state in the union.

Jury Disagrees in Perjury Case.

ST. LOUIS, July 29.—The jury in the second trial of former delegate Henry A. Faulkner, charged with perjury in connection with the surburban franchise boodle deal, reported to Judge Douglas today that its members were unable to agree on a verdict. The jury retired yesterday afternoon and considered the case until midnight.

Open Door to Other Nations.

LONDON, July 29.—Following the signature of the Americo-Chinese commercial treaty China will, it is said, grant the same open port privileges in Manchuria to Great Britain and Japan, both of which expect to establish concessions and appoint consuls at the new ports.

INJUNCTION DENIED AGAINST PLUMBERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 29.—Judge Louis Kelly of the district court today denied the injunction against the striking plumbers prayed for by McQuillen Brothers. He upholds the right of laborers to form unions and to quit their employment in a body for the purpose of compelling their employers to grant demands for higher wages and other betterments in their condition. Judge Kelly closed his decision by quoting the following from Pope Leo's encyclical letter, May 15, 1891, on the condition of the working classes:

"The great mistake made in regard to the matter now under consideration is to take up with the notion that class is naturally hostile to class, and that the wealthy and the workingmen are intended by nature to live in mutual conflict. So irrational and so false is this view, the direct contrary is the truth. Just as the symmetry of the human frame is the resultant of the disposition of the bodily members, so in a state is it ordained by nature that these two classes should dwell in harmony and agreement, and should, as it were, groove into one another so as to maintain the balance of the body politic. Each needs the other, capital cannot do without labor, nor labor without capital."

WILL BRING THEIR TENTS.

Many Delegates to Temperance Convention Will Live Under Canvas While Here.

Tourist clubs will be a feature of the national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union to be held at the Duquesne theater in this city next week. Many of the clubs from cities outside of Pittsburgh will bring their tents along, and preparations are being made by the entertainment committee of the local union so that those who bring tents can live under canvas while the convention is in session. The tourist club idea originated with the Rev. John G. Beane, president of the state union, and his club made such a big hit at the total abstinence convention last year at Dubuque, Ia., that many clubs have been formed among the unions throughout the country.

Word was received by the local committee yesterday from the Rev. Patrick O'Brien of Toledo, O., that he will bring a large delegation from Toledo for the convention. Father O'Brien is a charter member of the union. The Rt. Rev. Benjamin J. Reilley, bishop of Savannah, Ga., will not be able to attend.

ELKS AT POMPEII.

Men Who Wear the Horns Will Turn Out in Force Tonight.

Exalted Ruler E. J. Small of Pittsburgh lodge No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, will be honored at tonight's performance of the "Last Days of Pompeii" in a huge pyrotechnic photograph, comprising a remarkable blending of rainbow hues. The entertainment is being given at the Bijou theatre under the auspices of the Elks, and this fact great adds to the interest and attendance. Tonight is to be known as "Elks' night," and a big turn-out is anticipated.

There is not a dull moment from the explosion of the first bomb to the last note played by the big military band. The ever-changing scene is a constant attraction. The fair Ione, the blind girl, Nydia; brave Glaucus and the Egyptian Arbaces and their great army of attendants in the moving pantomimic picture, but presage what is to follow.

The eruption of Vesuvius is immediately followed by an exquisite program.

KING TO VISIT SQUADRON.

American Fleet Receives Cordial Reception from Leading Officials at Portugal.

LISBON, PORTUGAL, July 29.—King Charles is expected visit the United States European squadron on Saturday. The reception accorded to Rear Admiral Cotton and the other American officers by the king and Queen Amelia at the royal castle at Cintra, fourteen miles from Lisbon, Monday was most cordial. Admiral Cotton, while at Cintra, visited Queen Maria Pia, mother of the king, and the duke of Oporto, brother of his majesty.

At the banquet given at the ministry of marine last night in honor of the American officers Admiral Cotton, who was greeted with cheers, made a speech during which he eulogized Portugal, and thanked the officials for the hearty reception accorded to the American warships.

STOCK MARKET IS QUIETING DOWN

Better Feeling in Wall Street—Time Money Is Easier—Granger Stocks Sold Off When Grain Markets Advanced.

By JOHN O. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was some hesitation in the eastern stock market at the opening yesterday, due to a continuation of traders selling, which began near the close of Tuesday, and to the announcement of two small failures on the London exchange. The London market had recovered before the hour for beginning business here, and foreigners were moderate buyers. Before the end of the first hour a rally set in which extended to the entire list. United States Steel common advanced to 24¾, the preferred to 73¾ and Amalgamated Copper to 43. Tennessee Coal and Iron and some of the minor industrials advanced ½@1 per cent. The railroad list was stronger throughout, but as the rally proceeded the volume of business became lighter. Atchison was the weak feature of the railroad list, and continued heavy selling of that stock turned the market in a downward direction in the afternoon. Various reasons were assigned for the heaviness, among them that a loan in which the stock figured as collateral was being liquidated; that a bear pool had been formed with the object of shaking out a large interest, and that weather conditions in Kansas were unfavorable for corn. The latter probably had more influence than anything else, for the other granger stocks sympathized with the decline, and the movement was accompanied or rather was followed by a strong advance in wheat and corn in the Chicago market. The advance in wheat was based more upon foreign crop reports than on anything in domestic conditions. As to the corn crop conditions the reports were conflicting. Atchison sold off to 62¼, and Missouri Pacific and Rock Island each lost a point. St. Paul, which advanced to 143, reacted to 141¾. New York General declined 1½ per cent and Pennsylvania a large fraction. Southern Pacific advanced to 45¾ on what was called good buying by interests identified with Union Pacific. Northwest advanced 2¼ per cent to 168. Among the specialties, Evansville & Terre Haute opened higher at 50, jumped to 60 and closed at 61. The flotation of this stock contributed to the embarrassment of one of the recently failed firms, and its strong recovery strengthens the belief that the stock carried in bank loans had been absorbed privately. The coal stocks were firm and higher, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western advancing from 242 to 250, Jersey Central advancing 2½, and the Readings and Eries advancing about a point. In the late dealings United States Steel common reacted to 24¾ and the preferred to 72½, but the latter recovered to 72¾ and closed at a net gain of ½ per cent. The lowest prices in the railroad list were made after 2 o'clock, but a moderate recovery occurred in the final dealings and the market closed about steady. The sales reached 507,000 shares.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Sentiment in Wall street is generally improving. The rumors given currency just before the close of the market on Tuesday proved to be unfounded, and there is now little apprehension of further financial trouble. One of the most encouraging factors yesterday from the standpoint of the bulls, was the easier tendency in the market for time loans. Last week it was almost impossible to negotiate loans running over the end of the year at 6 per cent. Yesterday there were offerings as low as 5¾ per cent on first class collateral, and 5½ to 6 per cent were the regular rates quoted for six months. Call loan rates remained easy at 1½@2 per cent. The banks had a credit at the clearing house, and since last Friday have gained $1,078,000 through sub-treasury operations. Another favorable factor was the semi-annual showing made by the New York trust companies. When the clearing house adopted a rule requiring trust companies using the clearing house to maintain larger cash reserves, the general statement was made that these institutions were doing business on too close a margin. The statements just made public show that compared with one year ago the New York trust companies have increased their cash on hand by more than $16,000,000. Within the same period deposits have increased more than $27,000,000 and loans about the same amount. The increase in stock investments was less than $12,000,000. Taken as a whole the position of the trust companies is stronger than generally supposed, and compares favorably with that of the banks. Railroad earnings constituted a third favorable factor. Of 43 roads reporting gross earnings for the third week in July, 35 show increases amounting to $1,075,138 over the corresponding week last year and 8 show decreases of $85,382. The net increase in gross is 13.81 per cent.

There was a fair increase in the volume of trading on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, but the activity was confined to a comparatively small number of stocks. The largest dealings were in United States Steel. The common stock rallied to 25 on sales of 3,400 shares, but later reacted to 24¼. The preferred stock rallied to 73¼ and later reacted to 72¾, but was in good demand at the decline. Crucible Steel was also firmer, the common advancing to 12¾ and the preferred to 74¼, the latter closing at 75 bid. Manufacturing Light and Heat was fairly active and firm, selling at 35@35¼, and closing at 35 bid. A small lot of Ohio Fuel Supply sold at 40, and the stock closed at 39½ bid for quotable lots. Philadelphia Company was quoted at 37¾@40. National Fire Proofing common opened lower at 22, but rallied to 22¾. The preferred sold unchanged at 33½, but closed at 33¼ bid, 33½ asked. Westinghouse Electric was quieter than for some days, selling at 86@86¼, and closing at 85½ bid, 85¾ asked. Air Brake was a dollar higher at 155. Pittsburg Coal was firm, the common selling at 26⅝@26¾, and the preferred advancing to 84½, reacting to 84 at the close. There was no change in the River Coal issues. Only 10 shares bank and trust company stocks changed hands all day—5 shares Iron City Trust at 145 and 5 shares Merchants Savings and Trust at 65, a slight advance in both instances. Federal National Bank was offered at 153½ and closed without bid. German American Savings and Trust closed offered at 157½. The usually active members of this group were not even quoted. Bonds also remained dull. Pittsburgh Brewing 6s declined to 110½, and Philadelphia Company 5s to 103⅝. In the closing half hour there was a fair demand for stocks, but trading was dull and listless. There has been little if any easing in the local money market, and until this occurs improvement in the stock market is out of the question.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Considering the firmness of the local money market, and the attitude of brokers in discouraging margin business, local stock values have been holding remarkably well. The buying is confined either to persons who can pay outright or are paying outright for stocks. No immediate change in the money market is looked for, but the opinion is expressed that the tendency will be toward easier conditions. An enormous amount of money has been sent east to protect stocks in that market and a rally in the latter would no doubt be followed by profit-taking that would release a considerable amount of funds.

American Window Glass preferred was offered lower at 75 and closed without bid. The Machine company stock was quoted at 35 bid for the common and 50 bid for the preferred. It is reported that sales were made at these figures last week.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas was quoted at 67 bid, 68 asked. It is understood that the company is preparing a financial statement preparatory to making application for listing the stock on the Pittsburgh exchange.

Central Savings and Trust was offered at 65 and German American Savings and Trust at 157½. Both closed without bid.

The dealings in the steel and coal stocks were mainly in large lots by some of the prominent houses.

United States Steel new 5s advanced to 80¾, but later reacted to 79⅞.

The earnings for the Southern railway for the 12 months ended June 30, 1903, compared with the preceding year are as follows:

	1903.	Increase.
Gross earnings	$42,354,060	$4,365,561
Expenses and taxes	30,989,920	3,892,705
Net earnings	$11,364,920	$473,153

It is persistently and apparently correctly reported that a great deal of Southern Pacific stock is being absorbed by the banking interests who usually act for the Union Pacific. Some thoughtful person has suggested that there is some connection between this circumstance and the $10,000,000 temporary loan of the Union Pacific just floated.

Hocking Valley shows for June an increase of 26 per cent in gross and 16 per cent in net. For the twelve months the increase in gross is 21 per cent and in net 6 per cent. The increases represent the condition of the trade in soft coal from the fields of West Virginia and Ohio toward the great lakes. This traffic during the past two years has grown immensely, so that the lake fleets now find trouble in filling their season's contracts. The fact that Hocking Valley has its terminal at Toledo gives it an outlet at the very head of navigation on Lake Erie.

When the bull market of last summer was nearing the climax the most absurd stories were given currency intended to boost prices still farther. Just now bearish stories are the only ones that receive consideration, and it is just possible that the prolonged bear campaign is at or near its end. Among the stories set afloat yesterday to account for the session of Atchison were one to the effect that the company stood in need of money to continue its improvements, and another that a reduction of the dividend was contemplated. Friends of the company denied that it was in position to the borrowing of money, and as to the dividend reduction, that is a matter resting with the directors, and the street has no trustworthy knowledge on the subject.

United Gas Improvement's net earnings for six months ended June 30 were $4,916,105, against $2,245,025 last year. That was after deducting 10 per cent as Philadelphia gas sales for the city.

The Westinghouse stocks were not affected by the small strike in the Westinghouse Machine Company's works.

For the next week or so the Wall street bears may be expected to attack any vulnerable spot the managers may have. The stories of the closing out of loans, etc., in order to affect the general list. Then the market is likely to subside into midsummer dullness. The general action of the market yesterday pointed to further improvement.

An estimate was recently made by a foreign exchange house of the holdings of American bonds held abroad, and the result is somewhat startling. It seems that the semi-annual disbursements by this country to European investors, in payment of coupons, during a number of years previous to 1896 amounted, on an average, to fully $35,000,000. The foreign exchange situation now is the result of the heavy return of American stocks from Europe since 1897, but it was not prepared for such a startling shrinkage in the European holdings of American bonds as the estimate showed. The amount of American bonds held in Europe now is hardly worth notice as compared with former years. It is reported that the syndicated last month in settlement of interest due foreign holders of American bonds was less than 5 per cent of what it was 10 years ago. In other words, whereas fully $70,000,000 used to be sent abroad each year in interest to foreign bondholders less than $3,500,000 will be sent abroad in coupon payments this year. If these figures are correct, and they are the result of an investigation made by one of the largest foreign exchange houses, the shrinkage in foreign holdings of American bonds has been much greater than anyone had imagined.

On Sunday The Gazette took a view of the weekly statement of the New York banks opposed to that of Wall street observers, who refused to acknowledge the stronger position of the banks. Incidentally the difference was pointed out between banking policy as approved by Wall street banks and that pursued by the Bank of England. The current number of the London Statist contains a leading article on the subject of the New York weekly bank statements. After devoting some attention to the critics who have contended that a weak feature was the excess of bank loans over deposits, the Statist says: "Our readers will bear in mind that the banks in the clearing house association are required to keep, in cash, at all times, even in the midst of a crisis, cash reserves amounting to 25 per cent of their deposit liabilities. Consequently, it would, therefore, seem to maintain that it is not sufficient for the banks to keep as cash reserves 25 per cent of their deposits, but that in addition they also have to hold all their paid up capital and their undivided profits. In other words, we have seen that the banks in the clearing house association have in capital and undivided profits more than forty-seven and three-quarter millions sterling, 25 per cent of their deposits would amount to nearly another forty-five millions sterling. Consequently, if the contention of our contemporaries is correct, in order to lend and discount to the amount of under 182 millions sterling, is that serious criticism on the part of the banks would be justified? Is it not a little odd that our contemporaries put forward this strange criticism of New York banking, and yet are completely blind to the English system, which permits the banks to keep any reserve at all? The Bank of England does keep a reserve, but the joint-stock banks keep their reserves of the Bank of England, or money at call or short notice. Yet our system passes without comment, and the American system is represented to be a grave danger. If it is hardly necessary to point out here that the real test of sound banking is not the proportion of the deposits to the loans and discounts, but the judgment with which loans are made and bills discounted. If both loans and discounts have been made with real judgment the New York banking system is as sound as any in the world. If mistakes have been made, it is to this attention should be drawn, not to the mere nominal amount of loans and discounts."

Discussing the current gossip to the effect that Standard Oil interests are aiming at control of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroad systems, the Philadelphia News Bureau says: "It has until recently been supposed that these interests were closely allied with the active managements of most of the leading railways. The Pennsylvania and the Standard Oil people have certainly been in harmonious relations for many years, and have been intimately connected in business operations. William Rockefeller has long been a director of New York Central and has apparently acted with the Morgan interests in New England. But now it is said that the Rockefellers and their associates propose to control the chief Vanderbilt sidewater line, and perhaps the Pennsylvania for the purpose of strengthening and making paramount the projects of Mr. Gould and themselves. The mere suggestion of such a thing is enough to give people who get nervous over railroad combinations a great shock. The suggested control of the chief sidewater trunk lines by the Standard Oil, in which the interests of that concern with the transportation interests of the country is a startling proposition. All previous railway manipulations would pale into significance in comparison with Mr. Rockefeller. The plan of getting control of Pennsylvania is an entirely new project if Mr. Rockefeller has entertained it, and no capitalist has ever held enough stock to give him an important voice or exercise any decisive control of the affairs of the company. The great holders of Pennsylvania shares have been investors pure and simple and they have often been content to be hardly members of the directors, while the board has generally been very light holders of the shares. When large holders of Pennsylvania have died their shares have remained in estate investments. William Shaw was at one time the largest holders of Pennsylvania shares and he owned 10,000 shares at his death. J. Edgar Thomson was a large owner of Pennsylvania, but he was never identified with the management of the company. Latterly he, Frick and some of the small-fry Homestead millionaires were owners of the stock, but none of the largest holders are in the active management of the property."

FOUNDRY IRON PRICES HIGHER

Billet Quotations Decline $1 a Ton---Bessemer Pig Is Very Quiet.

REBATE ON SHEET STEEL

Sale of Iron Bars to Large Consumer Practically Fixes Market Value---Considerable New Business in Steel Rails. Congestion of Transportation.

Active conditions in foundry iron, which were referred to a week ago, have continued since that time, gaining in strength every day. There is a large increase in the number of inquiries received and the volume of orders as a result of these inquiries is growing in size. So marked is the improvement in conditions that two large producing furnaces in the Pittsburgh district have advanced prices 50 cents a ton within a day or two, and are now selling at this increase over regular quoted figures, which have been supposed to represent market value. Other furnaces have not yet followed this advance, but there is real improvement in the situation, which will not unlikely lead to more settled conditions and stronger quotations in the near future.

There is no business being done in Bessemer pig to amount to anything at present, and nominal quotations are unchanged at $18 to $19 valley furnace. Orders now being received are confined to small amounts, which cut very little figure in the market.

Lower prices prevail in the billet market, the decline amounting to about $1 a ton for Bessemer. For some time past there has been a shading of figures and it was conceded by producers that the market had sagged to the extent of 50 cents a ton, bringing the range of Bessemer billets down to $27 50 to $28 50, Pittsburgh delivery. Since then, however, one seller at least has named a flat quotation of $27 f. o. b. Pittsburgh, as a minimum price, and that must now be considered as the ruling figure for the lowest quotation. The fact that the United States Steel Corporation, which was not in the market as a seller of billets for some time, had some surplus, which was being offered, brought down quotations to the present basis.

Slight Sheet Rebate.

Billets and sheet bars going lower in price have affected steel sheets, and easier conditions prevail, though there has been no nominal decline as has been asserted. As a matter of fact the American Sheet Steel Company is allowing a confidential rebate to buyers of 500 to 5,000-bundle lots, which amounts to about 10 cents a hundred for No. 28 galvanized, with other gauges not affected in the same proportion, at the rebate on the higher sizes. The same condition of affairs exists in regard to black sheets, a rebate is allowed to large purchasers which amounts to 5 cents a hundred for No. 28. These rebates are not for any fixed period, however, and may be withdrawn at the option of the selling company, so a contract made today may not be subject to the rebate, or it may, if the concession now allowed continues until all the contracts be withdrawn. Tin plate is very steady, and, while premiums are still claimed by independent mills, there is at least a firm adherence to quoted figures, and a large volume of business.

Common iron bars have been somewhat unsettled for a long time, and all sorts of prices have been made, especially as it has been discovered that the ruling price was about $1 80, an order for 1,500 tons having been placed with a local producer by a large consumer at that figure.

There has been considerable business taken in steel rails during the past week, although the producing company is not prepared to give figures yet as to the amount of business done. As over 500,000 tons had been contracted for prior to this week, for delivery next year, it is easy to estimate that bookings are now climbing rapidly toward the first million tons. The clearing away of strikes in building trades, noticeable for a few days past, has improved business, and is apparent in the increased demand for structural material.

Transportation Congestion.

Coal and coke shippers are able to feel the congestion in transportation now without doubt, and are expressing considerable anxiety as to the future. One coke producing company reports only 36 empty cars received from the railroad company in one day, out of 80 ordered, while consignments out since last month have not yet reached destination, showing the inability of the railroads to take care of the freight now being received. Meanwhile furnace owners are desirous of getting stocks ahead before the opening of fall, and shipments are wanted, while foundries are lighting shipments of coke for immediate consumption.

It is rumored that there will be some more heavy buying of Bessemer pig iron by the United States Steel Company by the end of the week.

Notwithstanding the fact that this is the midst of the vacation season the volume of business in the hardware market keeps up in a very satisfactory manner, mail orders, shipments being current, while foundries are busy for the year. No radical changes in prices have occurred in the past week. All indications point to an extremely heavy fall trade, and jobbers are laying their lines for a vigorous autumn campaign.

CLOSE BUYING ORDERS PLACED BY FOUNDRIES

Leading Consumers of Pig Iron Are Also Running Very Close in Purchases.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 29.---The Iron Age will say tomorrow:

Strong pressure has been brought to bear upon Judge Gray to induce him to accept the post of arbitrator in the Alabama coal strike. In the meantime only the convict mines are in operation, and an increasing number of furnaces are banking. In the foundry trade the great majority of buyers are clinging to the hand-to-mouth policy, and buying for forward delivery is very much limited. Prices in the meantime have weakened further and business has been done on the basis of $12 for No. 2 foundry at Birmingham, Ala. Northern foundry No. 2 has sold down to $16 50 at Sidewater.

In pig iron for steel making purposes, the leading consumer is reported to be running very close, and yet no immediate purchases of Bessemer pig are being considered. In the valleys some Bessemer pig is offered for August delivery at $17 50 valley. In the east the principal makers of basic pig have in the aggregate sold about 40,000 tons. The June imports of pig iron were 78,878 tons, the total imports during the fiscal year ending June 30 having aggregated 956,198 tons. This is on top of a production of 18,820,160 tons during the same period. The mills have been compelled longer than expected and must soon cease.

During the past two weeks a very large billet tonnage has been placed, the figures at which the business was done being reported as under the pool level. One interest booked 32,000 tons in the aggregate. Foreign steel is being offered at $27 and occasionally at a shade under. For the large transactions within reach of tidewater this is considerably below the pool delivery prices. The position of the foreign steel market is shown by the fact that steel due on old contracts to American mills will have to be resold at a profit in Germany.

There have been so many interesting developments in the Canadian wire rod trade, in which English mills are trying to secure a footing since the withdrawal of the Germans and their surrender of a share to the Americans. They have been offered rods at £5 15s 6d at Montreal, which is under the price made by our mills.

The European mills have been asked to figure on some pretty large lots of steel rails for gulf and Pacific coast delivery, and it is thought possible that they may secure some of the latter. There is likely to be a struggle, too, over some Mexican and Canadian business now in the market. From Chicago comes the report that some large contracts for steel bars have been entered. The bar trade generally is, however, weak in the central west and in the east. Th spot trade continues very dull, but the reports from the tin plate industry continue firm. The steel merchant pipe industry is in a very active condition. The plate trade, however, is rather dull, it being difficult to keep the greatly increased capacity busy.

There are good prospects for the structural mills with some large requirements coming up. Thus the improvements to be made on the Pennsylvania second street, New York, will require over 20,000 tons of material. Copper has weakened further and 13 cents is now being shaded.

TEXTILE STRIKERS REPORTED FOR WORK

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.---Eight hundred plush and velvet weavers employed in the John and James Dobson mill, at the Falls of Schuylkill, who have been idle since the inauguration nine weeks ago of the textile strike in this city, reported for work today, without their demand for shorter hours or increased pay being granted. The firm, however, was compelled to send home 900 of the workers because the 50 loom fixers employed at the mill refused to remain out until their demands are granted. All of the mills in the lower section of the city are in operation, the strikers having returned to work at the old hours with the same pay.

CUBAN AGITATORS ARE KILLED IN FIGHT

HAVANA, July 29.---The efforts of a quartet of wild characters to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, province of Santiago, have ended in the capture of their leader and the killing of the other three men. For weeks the four men had been attracting considerable attention, endeavoring to excite the people to treason and striking on the ground that the revolutionary forces had not been and were not likely to be paid.

WHEAT EXPERIENCED A SHARP RECOVERY

Corn, Oats and Provisions Also Advance in the Chicago Market.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 29.---Improved weather and the heavy selling of yesterday caused weakness in wheat at the start and the early depression was considerably augmented by the severe break in corn prices. September opened with a loss of ¼@⅝c to ⅝c, at 77⅛@77⅜c to 77½c, and there was very little wanted at the decline. Prices held fairly steady during the first hour at the lower range, but later a better demand developed, induced by bullish news from the northwest, where reports from Manitoba showed greatly reduced crops in that section. Shorts covered freely and some important longs reinstated lines which they had sold out yesterday which resulted in the market taking a sharp upturn, September selling up to 79¼c. On the advance offerings became extremely scarce and prices were well maintained throughout the remainder of the session, September closing at 79⅝c, a net gain of 1⅜c. Primary receipts were 871,000 bushels, against 1,359,400 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 704 cars, which, with local receipts of 57 cars, 14 of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 161 cars, against 174 cars last week and 375 cars a year ago.

General rains throughout Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska caused heavy selling in corn at the opening and extreme weakness prevailed, September being off ⅛c to ¼c at 51¾c to 51⅞c. For a time the offerings were overwhelming and the market was badly demoralized, but later a good demand developed from some sections of the corn belt to the effect that only light showers had fallen and that much more rain was needed. Local longs bought freely and there was also a good demand from shorts who turned a weak market into one of decided strength, all of the loss being regained. After selling between 51⅛c and 52½c, September closed ½c higher at 52¾c. Receipts were 65 cars, with 14 of contract grade.

Oats acted largely in sympathy with corn, opening weak, but showing a good rally later, with local longs who had sold out their lines replacing them on the break. Trading was only moderately active and the market exhibited no special features. The close was firm, with September ¼c higher at 44¾c, after ranging between 33 and 33⅝@34c. Local receipts were 103 cars.

Provisions ruled active and strong the greater part of the day. There was an excellent demand for lard and ribs supposed to be for the account of a big packer, which advanced prices materially, pork being carried up with them. The close was strong, with September lard, per 100 lbs, $7 85@7 87½; short ribs sides (loose), $7 75@7 87½; dry salted shoulders (boxed) $7 50@7 62½; short clear sides (boxed), $8 25@8 37½; whisky, basis of high wines, $1 30; clover, contract grade, $12 00@12 50.

FURTHER DECLINE IN OAT QUOTATION

Ear Corn Seeks Higher Range. California Peaches Scarce With Prices Advanced.

There has been a further decline in local oat quotations, brought about by fairly heavy receipts a falling off in demand, and the fact that western markets are weaker on account of good grading and improved crop reports. Request has been of a quiet nature here for some days, and the tendency of prices has been downward for over a week. Corn, on the other hand, is firm, and quotations for ear have moved upward a cent a bushel. Prices for shelled corn are nominally unchanged, but there is a very strong market, and quoted figures are inviting.

New timothy hay is selling at $15 for No. 1, and $12 to $14 per ton for the No. 2 grade. At these figures demand is not active, buyers being afraid to take hold of new hay. Old hay is very firm and arriving in limited quantities. Bran is weak and quotations have declined. Middlings are steady at former quotations.

No changes occurred in quotations for grocery staples and the market was without feature. Flour is easy at quotations, with a concession of 5 cents a barrel still the order of the day, but even at this weakening buyers are not showing eagerness to purchase and sales are just in normal amounts. Sugar is steady, but without further change, up or down, and coffee is quiet at former prices. Cereal foods are not giving any sign of weakening and are having a large summer demand.

Red sweet potatoes are now in the market, quoted at $4 per barrel; the yellow variety has not yet come forward, but is expected in soon, and will range a little higher in price than the red. Irish potatoes are easy at quotations, with receipts large. String beans are coming forward only in moderate quantities, and quotations rule above the average for last week. Tomatoes are still abundant, and prices are just about steady.

New apples are in growing volume, and quotations are fully as high as actual selling. Green corn is in fair supply and is selling readily. Blackberries are quiet, but unchanged and huckleberries are in good supply, but show no signs of weakness, the demand being excellent. Cantaloupes are plentiful, and the market is well stocked; prices are easy at quotations. California peaches are scarce, and quotations have advanced sharply. Georgia peaches are in fair supply and are higher. A few grapes have commenced to make their appearance, but they are not commanding much attention.

Chickens continue scarce, and quotations rule about the same as at the opening of the week. Poultry of all kinds is steady, without change of quotations.

There is no change in butter, where prices are the same as at the opening of the week. Cheese is also unchanged. Eggs are quiet, demand being slow and quotations are easy.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The aggregate copper shipments from the lake district last week amounted to but 900 tons, the smallest for any week since navigation opened. Stocks are accumulating this month faster than heretofore.

It is reported that Adventure stamped 19,000 tons of rock in June and secured 180 tons of mineral.

A party of mining men from Joplin, Mo., have left for Thunder Mountain to examine the Glasgow and Dundee properties on Profile creek, of which they recently came into possession. They are all practical mining men and are diverting some of the profits of lead and zinc mining into the Idaho gold fields.

Some remarkable discoveries are being made in the Deadwood basin, on the line of the road built last year by the people of Boise into Penbasin on the way to Thunder Mountain. Some of the stories told respecting two of these are too fabulous to be reported seriously, but all indications are that two of the greatest ledges of the state have been found there. From one of these ledges massive chunks of ore have been brought to Boise that show much free gold and quantities of sylvanite. An average of the ledge, eight feet wide, is said to have returned $280 a ton. A surface sample from a large portion of the other ledge assayed over $150.

The recent discovery of free gold ore in the Juno mine on Morning mountain, overlooking the Nelson, is apparently a genuinely important strike, fully up to the standard of the Poplar creek sensation, which has drawn hundreds of prospectors and mining men into the Lardeau.

The official newspaper of the state of Michoacan, Mex., published under direction of the governor, says that the most extensive and richest bed of copper ore in the world has just been discovered near the town of Tinguintion, in that state. The ore bed has been examined by mining experts and is said to cover an area of 125,000 acres. Fourteen veins have been located; one vein is 200 meters wide and more than 20,000 meters long, extending on the surface soil. The discovery was made by J. Cicero Castillo, who has applied to the government for title to the property.

DAINTY WOMAN DREW A CROWD

Wife of Chinese Diplomat Showered With Attentions by Curious New Yorkers.

THEY WANTED PHOTOGRAPHS

Chinese Consulate and Police, However, Put a Stop to the Throng's Idle Curiosity—Went Shopping in Maiden Lane.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, July 29.

Mrs. Li Ching Hsu never before saw such a city and such people as she has seen in her visit to New York. She is young and very pretty and she dresses in silk gowns or rather suits, made from Oriental designs for feminine wear. She is the wife of a diplomat and rejoices in her husband's rank as Mandarin of the Red Button.

She was pleased today by all the demonstration which was made in her honor for as many as 12 photographers called at the Hotel Griffon and demanded pictures. "Delightful," said Mrs. Li Ching Hsu. "And surely a compliment, I take it. I shall have the garment of blue silk and the hairpins of the finest gold."

She would have been photographed by the squad of men with cameras had not Mr. Wing of the Chinese consulate, arrived and informed her that it was undiplomatic for wives of the Mandarins of the Red Button, to be pictured for publication and so Mrs. Li Ching Hsu hastened with her young son to a carriage and drove to the lower portion of the city with her husband.

She was amazed by the attentions which were bestowed upon her by the populace. When she alighted in front of a Maiden Lane jewelry store she saw at least 70 persons on the sidewalk watching her. For half an hour the throng lingered, and finally two policemen sent it moving down to Gold street.

Again policemen interfered when 100 persons surrounded her carriage at another place and some raised the curtains and looked in, only to see her smiling. Li Ching Hsu is a nephew of Li Hung Chang. He is on his way home on a vacation. FRANK A. PARKER.

MUST TAKE A DAY OFF.

Pennsy to Gain $1,000,000 a Year by a Newly Adopted Policy With Employes.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(Special.)—Notice has been served on many employes of the Pennsylvania railroad, that, dating from August 1, they will be laid off one day every month at their own expense. The first men to receive the order were the ferry hands. They will be forced to double up and do their work. They are paid an average of about $48 a month and a proportionate amount will be deducted from their wages.

The baggagemen between Jersey City and Pittsburgh have all been similarly notified. There are 2,500 of them, while 700 trackmen between Jersey City and Newark are included in the same order. These, it is said, are only the first and that gradually the entire system will be affected. While the loss to each man is comparatively small, amounting to only a few dollars a month, the company will gain $1,000,000 a year by the move.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER AFTER TWELVE YEARS

SOMERSET, KY., July 29.—Richard Taylor, charged with the murder of Clay Haynes and who has been a fugitive for 12 years, was arrested today. Taylor, it is alleged, had been mistreated by several persons, among them being Haynes. Taylor, upon meeting Haynes, it is said, told him to say his prayers as he was going to kill him. Haynes pleaded with Taylor for his life but to no avail. After Haynes had finished praying he was shot to death.

AUTOS MUST DISPLAY IDENTIFICATION NUMBERS

CHICAGO, July 29.—The conspicuous display of numbers by all automobiles for the purpose of identification was held by Judge Tuley to be a reasonable requirement. Albert C. Banker and others asked for an injunction restraining the city from enforcing a recent ordinance providing for such display.

KNOXVILLE WILL GET 100 MORE HOUSES

To Be Built by Knoxville Land Improvement Company and Cost $500,000.

NORTH SIDE FLATS PURCHASED

Penn Avenue Buyer Made Known—Investors Turning to Good-Paying Houses and Flats—What the Architects Are Doing.

The Knoxville Land Improvement Company, which has pioneered the building up of a large and handsome residence district in Knoxville, the preparing to build another bunch of 100 houses from plans now in the hands of Architect Ludwig Dick. The investment will run close to $500,000, and no time is to be lost in getting the project under way. A plot of four acres facing in Alice street, on the south side of Knoxville, will be used as a site for part of the houses, and the remainder will be built in adjacent streets where the company still has vacant frontage. The houses will be eight-room dwellings with solid brick walls and will have two bath rooms and a large reception hall. A good part of them will be ready for occupancy by January 1, and the remainder by April 1. Contractors Milby & Reed, who have built 250 houses for this company, are this week putting the finishing touches to the last 20 of a bunch of 50 houses they started last winter. These were built in Miller and Morse streets and every one of them is either occupied or has been rented for weeks. The two streets have recently been paved and provided with all the usual improvements and the lots sodded and shade trees planted. Since the Knoxville Land Improvement Company bought the old Swift farm, six years ago, it has laid out and improved several miles of streets and has built over 300 houses.

Allegheny Apartments Sold.

The three-story brick apartment house of John Stothers, on the west side of California avenue, between Termon avenue and Davis street, Eleventh ward, Allegheny, has been sold for $18,000 to an Allegheny market man. It is one of the best apartments in that part of the city, the suites containing five and six rooms each and having all the modern improvements. The lot measures 50x160 feet.

It develops that Joseph W. Harrison was the purchaser of the property at the northeast corner of Penn avenue and Seventeenth street, the sale of which was noted several weeks ago. The property is generally known as the Sarah Miller holdings and was owned by Frank McCann, he having bought it last spring. The lot measures 60x100 feet and is improved with a two-story brick building. At the price paid, $60,000, the property stands Mr. Harrison just $1,000 a front foot, or $10 a square foot.

Looking for Good Renters.

The "tight" money market and the uncertainty surrounding the stock market of late have combined to turn the attention of a large number of small investors to residence properties as a way of increasing the earnings of their surplus capital. This sort of property is often "passed up" because of the quicker gains that are likely to accrue from investments in stocks or the trouble which landlords have in collecting rents and looking after repairs. Recently, however, brokers have received a large number of inquiries, considering the season, for properties that would show a good revenue on their books. There are in the city many small properties, some of them in rather undesirable localities, but where there is no trouble in getting tenants steadily, which can be bought at almost sacrifice prices. Some of them pay as high as 15 and 20 per cent net on the investment, which in most cases is not over $5,000. Double houses in populous districts and small flats are among the best payers and a good number of these are to be had by a little investigation. In some of the localities the chances of an increase in the value of the property are fully as good as in districts where the properties are larger and more desirable, from a residence standpoint, for as the experience of the last two years has shown the increasing needs of manufactories and railroads, is causing them to buy up long blocks of residence lots at prices that a few years ago would have seemed very high.

Good Residences Going Ahead.

In the absence of numerous large building projects architects are busy with plans for good residences, many of which were projected last year, but held up on account of labor troubles and high prices prevailing last spring. Architect R. Maurice Trimble has plans for a $25,000 residence for Charles Bailey in H street, Oakmont. From plans by W. F. Smith, Mrs. Helen D. Shields will build a brick and terra cotta house in Oliver street, Edgeworth, to cost $20,000. Architect F. C. Sauer is preparing plans for a brick house for John Lauer at Boquet and Bayard streets to cost $6,000. Architect F. H. Sibite has plans for a brick residence for Oscar Wilde in Southern avenue. Dean & Stoner are the architects of an $8,000 house which Mrs. E. Laid will erect in South Lang avene, East End.

Architect W. F. Smith is taking bids on a brick school house in Chartiers township to cost $6,000.

The Bethlehem Baptist congregation of McKeesport has plans for a new church in Walnut street to cost $12,000. Bids are being taken by the pastor.

The Allentown Turner hall in Knox avenue, Knoxville, is to be enlarged and remodeled at expense of $8,000 from plans now in the hands of E. Schmid, who is taking bids on the improvement.

CRITICISED THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Animated Discussion Resulted at Chautauqua Religious Conference.

WRONG IDEA OF TEACHING

One Speaker Made Numerous Pertinent Suggestions in Relation to the Planning of the Bible Lessons—Asks for Radical Change.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 29.—In connection with the missionary institute a conference on religious education was held thies afternoon when a most animated discussion was carried on. Among the speakers were Dr. Forbush, Prof. Earl Barnes and Dr. G. Stanley Hall.

Dr. Hall made some very broad statements and at every step was called down by some one in the audience. But the doctor always had his answer ready and did not retract. Among other things he said that children, up to the age of 12 years, should be taught from the Old Testament with the story of the Christ told only incidenally.

From 12 on they were to study the New Testament, but the teachings of St. Paul were to be left alone until they were 18 or 20 years old. If little children question the truth of the Old Testament Bible stories, then present religious methods of pedagogy is at fault.

"The religious training has not been satisfactory," he said, "the modern Sunday schools not doing the work we had hoped. It does not meet the needs of the scholars. The days of the international lessons is past. They did a good work but have outlived their usefulness and we are ready for something better. There are some people who think they can improve on the plan of the Bible and they make out a course of lessons that skip hither and thither in the book with the result our children are painfully ignorant of the Bible. The kindergarten Sunday school is a ridiculous institution. It is high time we have a change, and a radical change."

Dr. Hall said he wanted to make a plea for better education of the clergy. He said: "We have reconstructed our plans of education in all our universities and colleges but the theological schools loiter on in the same old way of a quarter a century ago. There should be incorporated in their curriculum more science, pedagogy and psychology. Nature and the Bible cannot be separated. The time is at hand when one cannot be studied without the other."

Exclusion Rules Modified.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Taking note of the criticisms that have been passed on the application of the exclusion laws to the incoming Chinese who are to set up the exhibit at the St. Louis exposition, the president has directed a considerable change in the existing rules. The amended rules will make the entry of Chinese who are not attempting to evade the exclusion laws easy. The Chinese minister here has expressed his satisfaction with the changes.

Thoroughbreds Sent to America.

PARIS, July 29.—(Copyright Cable.)—Two hundred Percheron stallions, prize winners at Evveux and Nogent Le Rotrou shows, have been exported from Havre to the United States. Frenchmen are becoming worried because so many good horses are exported in late years. The average yearly export of Percheron stallions the last four years was 1,200.

$30 Colorado and Return

Daily, until September 30, the Burlington will sell tickets from Chicago to Denver, Colorado Springs or Pueblo, and return, at the very low rate of $30. These tickets are good returning until October 31. They are accepted on the "Burlington's Number One," the famous train leaving Chicago at 5.00 p. m., and arriving Denver 6.50 p. m. the day following.

The cost of tickets from St. Louis is $25, and they are good on the Burlington's Limited, leaving 2.15 p. m. and arriving Denver 8.15 p. m. the following day.

Every day until September 30, a Pullman tourist sleeping car will leave Chicago for Denver on Train No. 3, at 10.30 p. m. The cost of a double berth, comfortably holding two persons, between these points is only $2.50. Experienced travelers know that tourist sleepers, with their rattan seats, are much more comfortable for summer travel than the heavily upholstered palace cars. Of course we run the standard palace sleeping cars also.

If you want to know where to stay after you reach Colorado, send for a free copy of our Handbook. It tells where more than 200 hotels, boarding houses and ranches are located; how you can get there; what it will cost you to stay there by the week or month; what there is to do and see, and the name and address of the proprietor.

RUPTURE

MEN, Women and Children CURED in 30 to 60 Days

There are thousands of proofs of genuine, permanent cures to convince you that is a thorough conqueror of the most difficult forms of Rupture. As a result of years devoted to the incessant study of Rupture I have discovered a medical and electrical treatment which has never failed in any test it was ever put to. It is not only remarkable for the permanency of its cures, but for its humane qualities. The knife is never brought into service and there is no pain, no danger and no detention from work.

MY ELECTRO-CHEMIC METHOD

I have no trusses to sell and caution you against their use. THEY WERE NEVER KNOWN TO CURE RUPTURE and often aggravate the trouble instead of giving the slightest relief. The danger which lurks behind the surgeon's knife makes a cutting operation too risky to undergo.

Throw Your Truss Away.

Send This Testimony From a Cured Patient. July 13, 1903.

I suffered with a bad rupture for two (2) years. Trusses did me no good. I saw Dr. Wix's advertisement and decided to let him treat me. I have been cured now for about a year and feel as good and strong as I ever did. I recommend any one who is ruptured to take Dr. Wix's Electro-Chemic cure.

STANDARD STEEL CAR COMPANY OBJECTS TO COURT'S DECISION

In common pleas court No. 1 exceptions were filed yesterday by the Standard Steel Car Company to the finding of facts and conclusion of law in the opinion handed down several days ago by Judge James R. Macfarland in the equity proceedings brought by the Pressed Steel Car Company to recover blue prints. The exceptions are voluminous in form and enumerate the greater portion of the opinion following with a notation of the defendant's exceptions. There are 12 exceptions taken to the court's finding of facts and the same number to his conclusions of law, all of which allege the court erred. The exceptions practically offer objections to the entire opinion.

Ten Wills Filed.

The following wills have been filed for probate:

F. Goodwin, late of Philadelphia, in a brief will leaves all his estate, valued at about $15,000, to Jane Taggart of Philadelphia. This will was made in Pittsburgh.

James L. Lloyd, late of Pittsburgh, leaves a $1,100 estate to his widow and children.

Nancy E. McGarey, late of Allegheny, leaves a $600 estate to her four children.

Question of Quarantine.

Judge Shafer took the papers in the mandamus proceedings instituted by Dr. R. W. Batt, state quarantine officer, against the poor directors of Allegheny county. This is a test case, and the point at issue is to determine whether smallpox cases shall be quarantined by the poor board or by the school directors in townships where no regular health board exists. The poor board denies authority to quarantine, and states that at the county home there is no provision made for the care of persons suffering from contagious diseases, and that the board has no authority to make any.

Ask for a Receiver.

A bill in equity was filed by Cook & Calvin against W. J. McWilliams and Clarence Powell. The plaintiffs aver that on November 14, 1901, McWilliams purchased five lots in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, from Joseph Hustings, and began the erection of houses on the land. It is averred that he sold the houses and lots to Powell, and he left the country with debts outstanding. The plaintiffs allege that McWilliams owes them for building material, and they ask that the court appoint a receiver, to whom Powell should transfer the property.

Pitcairn Hearing Postponed.

Albert Pitcairn, who has been confined at Dixmont, was yesterday taken into common pleas court No. 2 on the writ of habeas corpus, but as Judge Robert E. Frazer, who has heard the past proceedings, was not on the bench, Judge Joseph D. Shafer decided he would allow the matter to go over until Saturday, contemplating that Judge Frazer will be on the bench at that time. Pitcairn was in charge of a couple of asylum attendants and appeared elated at greeting his wife in the law library, where he was kept in waiting. His aged father was present and became greatly excited when he talked to his son. Mrs. Pitcairn placed an arm affectionately about her husband's neck, but was asked to remove it by Dr. R. V. Pitcairn, who tendered the request through the attendants.

In the case of James Lees et al. vs. the United Coke and Gas Company et al., involving the right to lay railroad tracks, the court finds that Mrs. Griffin is entitled to security for the injury done her property, and the decree is modified so as to omit any relief to Mrs. Lees. The other exceptions are overruled.

ELOPERS ARE PERSUADED TO POSTPONE MARRIAGE

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—(Special.)—Because a Philadelphia clergyman talked like a father to a young woman from Johnstown, Pa., Harry W. Cullen, Jr., of New York, did not become a married man. Mr. Cullen, who is said to be the son of a well-known journalist, obtained a license here to wed Elfredia L. Krieger. Then they hunted up the Rev. C. A. Adamson, pastor of the Thirteenth Street Methodist church. The young woman admitted that she was about to become Mrs. Cullen without having taken the trouble to acquaint her mother with the fact, and she promised Mr. Adamson to delay the ceremony until such time as Mrs. Kreiger's blessing should be forthcoming.
